WILLS OF THE FAIRS.

Heggarty Makes a Discovery.

Bitter Contest Over the Estate Expected.

Public Administrator Applies for Legal Papers.

Bodies of the Victims of the Automobile Disaster Embalmed at Paris.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Attorney Heggarty announced, late this evening, that he had found several wills of both Fair and his wife. These wills are all sealed, and will not be opened until Mrs. Oelrichs, who is now on the way from New York, arrives.

When she comes, the wills will be opened, and photographed. It is stated that Charles Fair made a will since the settlement of the estate of James G. Fair. Heggarty says that, so far as the wills are concerned, everything is in good shape. He absolutely refused to say a word as to the contents of the documents.

It is learned from other sources that Mrs. Fair's will places her estate at $250,000. The will gives half of this to her relatives, and half to her husband. Nothing is known as to the contents of Fair's will. The wills of both, which are dated April, 1900, are the latest.

The first step in what promises to be a long, bitter contest over the ten-million-dollar estate of Charles L. Fair, was taken this morning, when Public Administrator John Farnham filed application for letters of administration on the estates of Mr. and Mrs. Fair. He alleged that the property was in need of attention. Judge Cook set the matter for 10 o'clock tomorrow, when representatives of the heirs will appear in court to oppose the granting of letters.

It is known that Charles Fair and his wife left wills. They were made over a year ago, and in general terms the contents are known. Fair gave all his property, estimated to be worth $10,000,000, to his wife, and made her the sole executor. This will was witnessed by his attorney, Charles J. Heggarty, and Joe Harvey, a sporting man and close personal friend of Fair. The will of Mrs. Fair, which was made at the same time, bequeathed her entire estate to her mother, Mrs. Hannah Nelson, who is now said to live in Newmarket, N. J., and to her two brothers and two sisters.

In the event that it is proved that Mrs. Fair survived her husband, then she became his heir, and the entire estate under the wills will pass to her relatives. If she died first, the sisters of Fair (Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs and Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt,) will inherit his property. According to the California law, if a man and woman meet insfant death, the man is presumed to survive longer, by reason of the greater vitality. So, if it is found that death was instantaneous, Fair's sisters will take all the property. Apparently both lived a few moments after the accident, and it only remains to be shown which died first. At any rate, the way is open for many lawyers' suits.

BODIES EMBALMED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Aug. 15.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fair, who were killed in an automobile accident yesterday near Evereaux, were embalmed and placed in coffins today, after which they were shipped to Paris, whence they will be taken to San Francisco.

The chauffeur said today that before the accident he noticed the tire of the left hind wheel of the machine was deflated, and that the rim of the wheel was rubbing on the ground. He told Fair, who tried to stop, and the accident followed. Peasants who saw the automobile say it was going at such a terrific pace at some points that it was impossible to distinguish its color. The firm that sold Fair the automobile last June says he paid $12,000 for it, and ordered another at the same price, to be of sixty-horse power. The second machine was almost ready for delivery.

Fair was passionately fond of automobiling, and never missed a day on the road. Several times he attempted to beat the one-hour record.

The fatal accident is the sensation of the city, and the leading topic of conversation among American residents and in automobile circles.

The manager of the firm which sold Fair the automobile in which he met his death declared in an interview today that he had more than once warned Fair that he was too imprudent. He said that Fair had the speed madness, and had met with an accident the latter part of June, when he collided with another automobile on the Avenue des Champs Elysées in Paris, but luckily no one was killed.

"I attribute the accident," said the manager of the firm, "to the condition of the road where the disaster happened. At this point there is a steep and treacherous incline, down which Mr. Fair must have gone at full speed, and his automobile, which was capable of running about sixty-eight miles on the flat, would then have attained a speed of from eighty-seven to ninety-three miles an hour. Mr. Fair was not a skillful driver, like W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr. In fact, he had not driven an automobile very much prior to purchasing this machine from us."

M. Fournier, who is a member of the firm in question, has gone to Evereaux. Word had been received from him by telegraph asking for a wagon to transport wreckage of Fair's automobile. He says the condition of the chauffeur is much more serious than was at first reported. Dispatches received here confirming the disaster do not indicate whether Mr. or Mrs. Fair expired first.

Mr. Ellis, manager of the Hotel Ritz, who has been at the Chateau Bisson du Mai today, in accordance with instructions cabled from Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, Fair's sister, to arrange for the removal of the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fair and their belongings to New York, says he saw Dr. Perrinquet, who was summoned after the accident from the neighboring town of Pacy sur Eueu, Dr. Perrinquet told Ellis that when he reached the scene of the disaster, both Mr. and Mrs. Fair were dead. They had apparently been killed outright. The gatekeeper and other persons connected with the chateau also thought that both the Fairs were dead when picked up.

Ellis found the bodies covered with beautiful flowers, which M. Borson, the owner of the chateau, had gathered from his garden. Ellis had the bodies embalmed, and placed in two oaken caskets lined with lead. They were enveloped in silken shrouds. A special car was engaged to bring the remains by rail to Paris. They will be dispatched to New York by the first steamer.

FIGHT ON A TREATY.

Burrows is Against Reciprocity.

He Will Demand Joint Action by Congress.

Nothing Positive as Yet About That Special Session.

Gov. Leary of Guam Asks Definition of Powers—Foreign Advices.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Senator Burrows of Michigan will lead the fight against ratification of a reciprocity treaty with Cuba, no matter whether the President decides to convene the Senate in extra session, or to let the whole subject lie over till December. The chief championship of the treaty, at least in its legal and constitutional aspects, will probably fall to the part of Senator Spooner of Wisconsin.

Senator Burrows will plant himself on the well-worn ground that the reciprocity treaty belongs within the category of measures for raising revenue, and that there must be joint action of House and Senate on any step taken in that direction. He will probably demand that the treaty be sent to the Finance Committee, of which he is a member, instead of to the Foreign Affairs Committee, the natural course of treaties; that the committee invite interested parties to appear before it at the open hearings, and that the seal of secrecy be lifted from the executive sessions of the Senate, while this instrument is under discussion on the floor. Preparations are in progress for a battle royal.

The authors of the statement that the President has positively decided to call, in November, a special session can decide such questions more easily than the President himself, who is handicapped somewhat by his acquaintance with the difficulties that encompass his path, whatever he does.

QUEER THINGS IN GUAM.

GOVERNOR IS PUZZLED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—An anomalous situation obtains in the island of Guam, in reference to the administration of justice, and Commander Schroeder, the Governor of the island, has been driven to appeal to the Navy Department here for instructions as to the limit of his powers.

Congress has not legislated for the island, and the will of the naval Governor has been practically supreme. When the island was turned over to the Navy Department, and Capt. Leary was appointed Governor, he decided to continue in operation the old Spanish laws, except such as should be modified by his directions, or that of the Navy Department. Under the old system of laws thus put in force, there existed practically but a single court on the island, the Court of First Instance, which corresponds to the lowest judicial tribunal in this country.

Under the Spanish law an appeal was allowed from the decisions of this court to the Court of Cassation in the Philippines, with provision for a final appeal in certain class of cases to the government at Madrid. But with the advent of American control in the Philippines this power of appeal was cut off, and the decisions of the Court of First Instance practically stand as the decisions of the court of last resort. Some time ago a native was convicted in this court of murder, and was sentenced to be executed. The evidence seemed to leave some question of his guilt, and the Governor was appealed to. Being at a loss as to what action he could take, he advised the Secretary of the Navy of the situation, and asked for instructions.

There are said to be other cases which involve the rights of American citizens who have been tried in Guam under Spanish law, which, among other things, does not provide for trial by jury, to which Americans are entitled under the Constitution. The whole subject is being carefully considered by the Navy Department. The Judge-Advocate, it is understood, will shortly render an opinion upon which Acting Secretary Darling will act.

CHIEF TUITELE DEAD.

MILITARY FUNERAL IN SAMAR.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Capt. Sebree, Naval Governor of the Island of Samar, has advised the Navy Department from Tutuila, under date of July 17, that Tuitele, one of the chiefs of the island, who has held the position of district governor of the western district of Tutuila since the United States assumed the sovereignty of the islands, died at Leone, June 15. Capt. Sebree reports that he sent a surgeon to attend him, and subsequently, when the chief grew worse, he went in the Wheeling to make him a personal visit.

Tuitele was buried with military honors, the funeral being attended by officers and men of the Wheeling. A native guard, by direction of Sebree, fired three volleys over his grave. Capt. Sebree says that these honors were not required by the regulations, but that he deemed it advisable to show all respect to the memory of one of the highest chiefs of the islands, and one who, in his official position, was loyal and faithful.

PAYMENT OF INDEMNITY.

CHINA'S DECREE ABOUT FUNDS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Minister Conger, at Peking, has transmitted to the State Department the imperial decree concerning the raising of funds in the several provinces for the payment of the indemnity exacted by the powers as a result of the Boxer uprising. The decree directs that there shall be no exortion, and that the people must not be irritated. The viceroys are commanded to do away with what will cause friction and needless severity. The decree declares that if any "are found out in their old tricks and filling their own pockets," they will be severely dealt with.

Minister Conger also sends a proclamation of the Viceroy of Chi Li, in which the people are warned against carrying arms. Reference is made to the Boxer troubles, and the Viceroy says old scores must not be raked up.

"The people and the Christians must not retaliate against each other," concludes the proclamation, "but forever be at peace with each other. Tremble and obey."

NEW LEGATION BUILDING.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Complying with the request of the Secretary of State, the Treasury Department will detail an expert architect from the office of the supervising architect of the Treasury to go to Peking, China, to complete the plans and specifications for the new United States legation building there and superintend the construction. The French architect who performed a like service for his government and who was engaged to plan and construct the building for the United States, has gone to France and will not return. As his plans were not altogether satisfactory, Minister Conger asked that a competent architect be sent from the United States. The selection will be made very soon.

PNEUMATIC TUBE SERVICE.

BIDS EXCEED APPROPRIATION.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Bids were opened today by the Acting Postmaster-General for the rental of pneumatic tube service in Boston, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis, several of the builders or their representatives being present. The bids greatly exceed the appropriation of $500,000 granted by Congress to be used for this purpose for the fiscal year 1903. It was announced after the opening that no awards would be made at present, as it would be necessary to make some adjustment among the different cities in order to come within the appropriation.

TRIP UP ORINOCO.

RODGERS REPORTS RESULTS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—The only information from Venezuela received by the authorities here today was contained in a cablegram from Commander Rodgers of the Marietta, merely announcing his arrival at La Guayra. He reported yesterday from Port of Spain the results of his trip up the Orinoco River.

Minister Bowen, in a cablegram to the State Department yesterday, was solicitous for the presence of an American warship at La Guayra. The arrival of the Marietta probably will relieve his anxiety.

WAR OFFICE CHANGES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15.—Several important changes have been ordered in the Adjutant-General's Department as the result of a recent promotion of Col. William H. Carter to the grade of brigadier-general. Lieut.-Col. Andrew, who is now ranking officer on duty at the War Department, has been assigned to duty as Adjutant-General of the Department of California. He takes the place of Gen. J. A. Babcock, who has been ordered to this city for duty as adjutant-general on the staff of Lieut.-Gen. Miles. Col. Andrews's transfer to San Francisco, which was made at his own request, will take effect October 15.

To provide for the vacancy thus created in the force at the War Department, Maj. Charles J. Crane, who is now in Manila, has been ordered to this city at once, and Lieut.-Col. W. I. Innis of the Artillery Corps, stationed at Fort McHenry, has been ordered to duty in the Adjutant-General's office in this city. Lieut.-Col. James Kerr has been ordered to Leavenworth, Kan., for duty with the general service school to be opened there September 12.

Cruz Monagas, chief of the Venezuelan revolutionists at Barcelona, in which Monagas said foreigners might be sure no coercion would be applied to them. According to Gen. Monagas the revolutionists have divided with their forces into twenty-five sections each containing 1000 men or upward. One division of 8000 men commanded by Gen. Matos and Domingo Monagas, is at Orituco, awaiting an attack by President Castro, who is at San Casimero.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15.—A special to the Globe-Democrat from Austin, Tex., quotes a dispatch from Culiacan, Mex., as saying:

"The lower portion of the city of Altata, on the Pacific Coast, just west of Culiacan, has been completely destroyed by a tidal wave, and not less than fifty are known to have been drowned. The property loss is heavy.

"It is reported that several smaller coast towns situated above Altata were completely washed away by the same tidal wave, and the loss of life in these smaller places is very heavy. Relief for the sufferers will be sent from Culiacan."

STILL CONTINUES TO BAFFLE POLICE.

LITTLE PROGRESS MADE IN THE BARTHOLIN CASE.

Inspector Hunt Hoped That by Depriving Claffy of Liquor He Would Be Able to Extort a Confession, But Claffy Fooled Him.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Little progress was made by the police today in solving the mysteries of the Bartholin case. Inspector Hunt was convinced that he would obtain important information from John Claffy, who was positively identified by Mrs. Tallerday as one of the men she saw with the laundry wagon on the morning following the night of the disappearance of Minnie Mitchell. Claffy has been accustomed to a supply of liquor and the inspector was of the opinion that he would weaken after he had been deprived of his allowance for a few days. Late today he concluded that Claffy should be about ready to tell what he knew, and had him called into the office. The result was a failure.

Claffy not only refused to admit that he was one of the men seen by Mrs. Tallerday, but declared with great positiveness that he was not there at all. When asked how he explained Mrs. Tallerday's identification of him, he replied that it was not for him to explain it. She had simply made a mistake, and that was her affair and not his. He insisted that he was at home in bed at the time Mrs. Tallerday declared that she saw him with the laundry wagon, and denied any connection with the case. The police could make nothing whatever out of him and he was locked up again.

Inspector Hunt said: "I thought that we would get the story from Claffy, but we did not get a single thing. He denied everything and stuck to his denials. I asked him where he was that night and he said he was at home in bed. I asked him if he had not gone to bed intoxicated, and if, while in that condition he might not have done some things he cannot now recall, and he said 'he was sober that night.'"

Milton Edwards, who arrived today from Denver, was able to do no more than to strengthen the suspicion of the police regarding the guilt of Thompson. He recited no facts that bore directly upon the killing of either Mrs. Bartholin or of Minnie Mitchell.

Oscar Thompson still declines to tell the police anything and insists he has told all he knows, and he cannot remember where he was or what he did on the night of the murder of the Mitchell girl.

ANTI-BRITISH CAMPAIGN.

Arrival at The Hague of the Boer Generals is Expected to Put an End to It.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

THE HAGUE, Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The arrival here next week of the Boer generals Botha, Dewet and Delarey is expected to put a check to the recently renewed anti-British propaganda.

According to the present programme the visiting Boer generals will first visit Amsterdam, where a great reception in their honor will be held. They will then return to The Hague to visit Mr. Steyn, former President of the Orange Free State, and from here will go to Utrecht to confer with former President Kruger. Many of the Boer refugees here are awaiting the arrival of the generals to urge them to mediate with the British government in their behalf, but the greater number have complaints to make of the treatment they have received at the hands of those surrounding Mr. Kruger.

King Edward Answers Address. Perilous Voyage Ended—Money Lost in Mail.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In its issue of this morning the Daily Express asserts that Canada will subsidize to the extent of $150,000 and Great Britain to the extent of $75,000 a year the new line of steamships to be established between Canada and South Africa, which is the first portion of the great plan elaborated by Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, to make the British Empire independent of American and foreign supplies of food, etc. Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, Canadian High Commissioner in London, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, assisted, according to the Daily Express, in arranging Chamberlain's plan, which has the sympathy of King Edward and the Prince of Wales.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has thrown in its lot with the shipping lines concerned in the amalgamation, the paper concludes, and the same combination is arranging for a fast service between Canada and Great Britain.

COWES, Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] King Edward's reply to an address from the city of Portsmouth yesterday was handed to the Mayor of Portsmouth today. On behalf of himself and Queen Alexandra, His Majesty thanks the city for its congratulations on his coronation, the recovery of his health and the conclusion of peace, and adds:

"We are unfeignedly thankful for the mercies which it had pleased Almighty God to vouchsafe to us and to our people, and we trust, now that we are happily at peace with all the world, that the recent rejoicings wherein the whole empire shared, may send us forward, each in his own station, to work with renewed earnestness for the maintenance and improvement of our noble inheritage, and the accomplishment of the ends that become a great people. For myself, I shall ever be stimulated in my exertions for the welfare of the empire by the ineffaceable recollection of a tribute of loyalty and affection which has touched me deeply."

The King and the Prince of Wales landed at East Cowes today and visited Osborne House.

During the morning the King marked the spot occupied by the coffin containing Queen Victoria's body on the deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert. A brass cross was set into the deck bearing the words:

"Here rested the beloved remains of Queen Victoria, from February 1, to February 2, 1901.

"Born May 24, 1819.
"Died January 22, 1901."

LAUNCH CROSSED ATLANTIC.

NEWMAN'S PERILOUS VOYAGE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FALMOUTH (Eng.) Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Capt. Newman and his son Edward arrived here last night in the 38-foot kerosene launch Abiel Abbett Low, in which they sailed from New York, July 9. In an interview with a representative of the Associated Press, Capt. Newman said:

"The launch has proved herself a noble boat, but we have experienced awful times since we left New York. Several times, in terrible gales, we nearly lost our drag anchor, owing to the gear chafing away. We voyaged 3166 miles. We had great trouble with the kerosene because the tanks which held it broke, and the oil flooded the cabin. My boy became ill and homesick. I suffered greatly from exposure, and long sitting in one position.

"We spoke the American line steamer Kroonland, August 1, in mid-Atlantic. After this we encountered a series of most severe gales, and the hardships were so great that we feared that we would not survive. We did not speak another vessel until August 13, when we met a fisherman ninety miles off the Scilly Islands. These last ninety miles were the longest I ever ran in my life. I would not hesitate, however, to try the voyage again."

Capt. Newman lost thirty pounds in weight on the trip.

THRONG THE ABBEY.

CROWDS OF SIGHTSEERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The plan of opening Westminster Abbey to give the public an opportunity to view the coronation fittings has involved the authorities immeasurably, and is proving to be a much more troublesome task than had been imagined. Wednesday the admission fee was $1.25, and yesterday it was reduced to 60 cents.

Great crowds inspected the building during these two days, but this morning the rate of admission was further reduced to 12 cents, and throngs past all calculations congregated long before the doors were opened. By noon the line extended a mile to the westward of the abbey, in closely-packed ranks. A small army of police was called out to keep order. The people passed through the turnstiles at the rate of 2500 an hour. Although thousands were turned away, giving up hope of entering, the line was still growing up to the middle of the afternoon.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

HOUSTON (Tex.) Aug. 15.—Eleven white men are in jail here as a result of a battle between whites and negroes this afternoon at the Southern Creosote Works, seven miles from the city. The casualties are:

NELSON RANDALL, colored, killed.

BILL ANDERSON, colored, dangerously wounded.

WILLIAM HAMILTON, white, perhaps fatally wounded.

Unknown negro, shot in leg.

The negroes were employed at the creosote works, and the white men were engaged in erecting oil tanks for the Southern Pacific. They quarreled over the negroes singing, to which the whites objected.

OBITUARY.

Luther R. Marsh.

MIDDLETOWN (N. Y.) Aug. 15.—Luther R. Marsh, widely known as a spiritualist, died at his home here today, after an illness of several weeks. He was 80 years of age. Some days ago Marsh summoned Justice Bartlett of the Court of Appeals to his bedside, and it is believed made final disposition of his great library and picture gallery.

For many years Marsh, whose tastes were more for literature than the law, was a diligent student of the writings of Emanuel Swedenborg, and he was led to undertake the investigation of the phenomena of spiritualism.

In 1888 Mr. March became acquainted with Ann Odelia Diss de Barr, through her alleged spirit pictures, and her influence over him became so great that he was induced to make over property in New York to her for a nominal consideration. Notwithstanding the exposure of her methods, Marsh continued his faith in her alleged portraits of Bible characters and in spiritualism.

At the Berlin Operahouse at St. Petersburg, Paris and Moscow, he made his mark, and for a time was a favorite of the crowned heads.

ARKANSAS CITY (Kan.) Aug. 15.—Prof. Carpenter and two assistants from the Agricultural College of Kansas are making measurements of the Kansas River. The information so secured will be used in compiling a report for the use of the Colorado authorities in the suit brought against that State by the Attorney-General of Kansas to prevent Colorado irrigationists from using the water in the Arkansas River. The measurements taken here in the river show a flow of about 30,000 cubic feet per second.

CHAUNCEY IS ALL RIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—The new torpedo boat destroyer Chauncey returned to the yard of the Neafie and Levy Ship Building Company today, after a successful trip. The figures "29.51" painted on the smoke stack represented the maximum sped in knots attained by the destroyer on her trial. President Seddinger, of the shipbuilding company, says the Chauncey made an average speed of 28.64 knots in her four trial runs, and during the endurance trial of one hour she averaged 26.80 knots, or nearly one knot above the speed required.

VENTILATING POWER CASE.

Hard Questions Asked of Weidenfeld.

Limberger Refuses to Give the Court the Items of Chapman Account.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—When the hearing in the case of Peter Power against the Northern Pacific directorz was resumed today, Herbert Limberger, counsel for H. Content & Co., appeared with records of transactions between that firm and Camille Weidenfeld. Entries as to the purchase of 100 shares of Northern Pacific stock by Weidenfeld on December 26, 1901, and of payments of cash on account of Weidenfeld and Capt. Stern were put in evidence. The account of Ellsworth I. Chapman was asked for, but Limberger declined to produce it on the ground that it was not pertinent.

Guthrie pointed out that the Power suit was only one of several brought against the Northern Pacific for the same purpose. Therefore he thought that the entries of Chapman's account, being material to the suit brought by Chapman, was pertinent to the Power suit. But Limberger pleaded privilege.

Weidenfeld was recalled as a witness. He desired to make some corrections on his previous testimony.

"I was asked," said he, "if I bought stock for Ellsworth I. Chapman or Mrs. Sophie Chapman. I find that I bought through Content & Co. 100 shares of the Northern Pacific stock. The price paid was 189½. She paid by check on January 19, $18,994.10. Delivery was made to Chapman. I don't remember whose check it was.

"In relation to the Bouden stock, in the conference with Judge Lancaster, it was understood that suit could only be brought by a stockholder. Gov. Van Sant said he would have nothing to do with any 'strike.' He would not touch the case unless it was understood that the action would be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary. It was after that Bouden qualified and he authorized the suit."

Replying to the questions by Guthrie, counsel for the Northern Pacific, Weidenfeld said that E. R. Thomas, a banker, was at first adverse to the present litigation, but that he talked him into it. That was after Lamb's visit to the West. The witness had shortly before stated that he and Thomas had jointly purchased 400 shares of Great Northern stock.

"Did not Capt. Stern or Mr. Lamb tell you," Mr. Guthrie went on, "that Judge Lancaster had declined to go on with the case unless he was convinced that P Power was a bona fide stockholder?"

"I don't remember," was the reply.

"Did not Judge Lancaster send you word he would have nothing to do with the Great Northern suit if it was to be a 'strike?'"

"I understand he sent some message," said Weidenfeld.

Asked why he did not personally sue, the witness said that Lamb had told him he had a plaintiff. Witness's stock was sent out to the western meeting.

"Then why did you go to Thomas to procure a plaintiff instead of suing yourself, if you had any grievance to redress?" queried Guthrie.

"I think Mr. Thomas had the stock. I really cannot answer the question," said Weidenfeld.

Replying to Lamb, he said he did not authorize Capt. Stern to make a payment to Lamb to defray the expenses of the trip west to confer with Judge Lancaster and the western lawyers. To other questions Weidenfeld said he never heard Peter Power's name until after the suit was filed, and he first learned of the suit itself through the newspapers.

BIG ISSUE OF BONDS.

ESPEE COMMITTEE PROPOSES IT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was definitely ascertained today that the Executive Committee of the Southern Pacific Railway Company, at a regular meeting held Thursday, formally adopted a resolution recommending the issue of $100,000,000 4-per-cent. bonds, convertible into stock at par at any time within twenty-five years and subject to call under certain conditions, at, it is said, 105. In explaining this matter today, an interest identified with the Southern Pacific Company stated that, without doubt, some time would elapse before the convertible-bond proposition would be formally presented to the shareholders for approval.

It is the purpose of the company as soon as legal matters are arranged and the issue is approved, to offer to the shareholders the right to subscribe to a portion of the new bonds, about $25,000,000, at an attractive figure somewhat under par. The subscription rights, it is said, will, upon the proportion of bonds issued and the price at which they will be offered, be worth the equivalent of a small dividend on Southern Pacific stock.

The purposes of the bond issue are to provide for the improvement of the road and the equipment. Although the Southern Pacific Company has been doing splendidly in the matter of earnings, officials state that fully $40,000,000 is needed to bring the property up to a state of modern efficiency, where it can compete on equal terms with its rivals. The company has vast stretches of track with rails weighing but sixty-one pounds, and Poor's Manual gives the weight of the rails at from thirty-five to seventy-six pounds. Much of the road requires ballasting, and there is urgent necessity for reduction of grades, elimination of curves, rebuilding of bridges and the like.

OPPOSITION TO TREATY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PEKING, Aug. 15.—Opposition to the British commercial treaty will evidently necessitate lengthy negotiations before the interests of the various powers concerned can be harmonized, and the Chinese system of taxation reformed.

The United States and Japan oppose an increase in the customs duties, particularly in the export duties. Russia objects to that feature of the treaty which increases the powers of the imperial customs establishment, in view of the British understanding that the chiefs of the Chinese customs shall be Englishmen, so long as there exists a preponderance of British trade.

COAST RECORD.

NELSON VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Coming to Los Angeles to Prove It.

Had Become Resident of Buffalo Hump.

Fresno's Mayor After Rowell Bold Philip Watkins—Work of Pythians.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. H. C. Nelson is carrying home to Los Angeles from the Thunder Mountain district in Central Idaho, for the express purpose of demonstrating in person that he is alive. Because neither his wife nor friends heard from him, the report was circulated in Los Angeles that he had either died or been killed. This report had no basis whatever, and Nelson wishes to investigate how it got started.

After walking 250 miles from Thunder Mountain to the railway, Nelson passed through here last night. He was married in the East several months ago, and went ahead of his bride to Los Angeles. He wrote East of his going to Thunder Mountain, and built great hopes for the future. A month passed after his departure, and his wife received no word of him. Another month went by, and still she had no message. She wrote to Los Angeles to learn if any word had been received there. A newspaper article written after the letter was received intimated that someone might have made away with the doctor to secure his interest in a fabulously-rich claim. It was not long before a copy of the paper reached Dr. Nelson. He resented the statements somewhat, as he was still living, and was practicing medicine at Buffalo Hump. He also felt somewhat grieved at the reference to his convictions. Hearing about the same time that his wife had come west to Los Angeles he determined forthwith to go to which there as soon as circumstances would permit. He made the long overland trip outward without any loss of time, and now is making rapid progress toward Los Angeles. His exposure and difficulties encountered in reaching transportation have reduced him to almost a skeleton.

WORK OF PYTHIANS.

DISPOSE OF MANY MATTERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Two members of the board of control of the Endowment Rank were elected today by the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias. Frank Hoskins of Wisconsin, and Dr. John T. Sutchen were chosen. It was decided to go into session next Tuesday, to consider questions of the laws said to be in conflict with the constitution.

Golden Lodge of Ohio was permitted to subscribe money to the McKinley memorial fund.

P. P. Caldwell was elected official reporter for the Supreme Lodge.

The greater part of the session was devoted to the consideration of the proposed changes in the laws of the order. The Supreme Tribunal passed upon a number of appealed cases. In the matter of the expulsion of John Hilmey, former grand president of the board of control, it was held that the subordinate lodge had jurisdiction, and the case was remanded to the lodge.

In the case of Morris Silver vs. Olathe Lodge, No. 296, of New York, the judgment of the Grand Tribunal was affirmed, it being held that a member in good standing until he is suspended. Silver owed a year's dues, but had not been formally suspended. The appeal of I. Fleischdrager from the same lodge, the decision of the Grand Tribunal was affirmed. This involved a question of facts in a case for benefits.

FORTUNE IN GOLD.

STRIKE IN OLD MINE

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

COMA (Wash.) Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] T. H. Wilkins and Tacoma mining men have gone to wrest a fortune in gold from the abandoned Gold Reef mine on Lady Run in Placer county, California.

During the days of hydraulic mining, gold was taken from a portion of the channel on this property. The debris law, which went into effect in 1884, stopped hydraulic mining, and mining took its place. The company owning the property spent $40,000 in trying to locate a pay streak and found the west rim of the channel. They failed. Last month, after several months of careful work, Wilkins found the pay streak fifty feet from the main channel, and has since cross-cut it 140 feet, He finds there has never been a failure of this old channel, the pay streak above and below yielding $20 to $30 per cubic yard. He is now working out the pay streak and commencing in September will be breasting with a large force of men.

Developments of gold are now being made monthly, the product bringing $18 per ounce at Tacoma and California smelters. While tunneling in the placer mine, a free-milling gold

COAST RECORD.

NELSON VERY MUCH ALIVE.

Coming to Los Angeles to Prove It.

Had Become Resident of Buffalo Hump.

Fresno's Mayor After Rowell Bold Philip Watkins—Work of Pythians.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. H. C. Nelson is leaving home to Los Angeles from the Thunder Mountain district in Central Idaho, for the express purpose of demonstrating in person that he is alive. Because neither his wife nor friends heard from him, the report was circulated in Los Angeles that he had either died or been killed. This report had no basis whatever, and Nelson wishes to investigate how it got started.

After walking 250 miles from Thunder Mountain to the railway, Nelson passed through here last night. He was married in the East several months ago, and went ahead of his wife to Los Angeles. He wrote East of his going to Thunder Mountain, and had great hopes for the future. A month passed after his departure, and Nelson received no word of him. Another month went by, and still she had no message. She wrote to Los Angeles to learn if any word had been received there. A newspaper article written about the letter was received intimated that someone might have made away with the doctor to secure his interest in a ridiculously-rich claim. It was not long before a copy of the paper reached Dr. Nelson. He resented the statements somewhat, as he was still living, and was practicing medicine at Buffalo Hump. He also felt somewhat grieved at the reference to his companion. Hearing about the same time that his wife had come west to Los Angeles he determined forthwith to reach there as soon as circumstances would permit. He made the long overland trip outward without any loss of time, and now is making rapid progress toward Los Angeles. His exposure and difficulties encountered in reaching transportation have reduced him to almost a skeleton.

WORK OF PYTHIANS.

DISPOSE OF MANY MATTERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Two members of the board of control of the Endowment Rank were elected by the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias. Frank Hoskins of Wisconsin and Dr. John T. Sutchen were chosen. It was decided to go into session next Tuesday, to consider portions of the laws said to be in conflict with the constitution.

Crescent Lodge of Ohio was permitted to contribute money to the McKinley relief fund.

C. P. Caldwell was elected official stenographer for the Supreme Lodge.

The greater part of the session was devoted to the consideration of the proposed changes in the laws of the order. The Supreme Tribunal passed upon a number of appealed cases. In the matter of the expulsion of John Avery, formerly president of the board of control, it was held that the subordinate lodge had jurisdiction, and the case was remanded to the lodge.

In the case of Morris Silver vs. Excelsior Lodge, No. 296, of New York, of the Grand Tribunal was affirmed, it being held that a member in good standing until he is suspended. Silver owed a year's dues, but had been formally suspended.

On appeal of I. Fleischdrager from Pacific lodge, the decision of the Supreme Tribunal was affirmed. This involved a question of facts in a case for benefits.

The judgment of the Grand Tribunal of Pythias was affirmed in the appeal case of Freer vs. Sacramento Lodge, No. 1. Freer was suspended for one year for violating a rule of the order.

The Supreme Temple of the Rathbone Sisters, elected officers today. The following were chosen: Supreme Chief, Belle Quinlan of Gainsburg, Supreme Senior, Mrs. Lydia A. Sexton of Riverside; Supreme Junior, Josephine Hall of Hudson, Mich.; Supreme Manager, Mrs. M. B. Cushman of Milwaukee; Supreme Mistress of Records and Correspondence, Mrs. Josephine Nelson of Union City, Ind.; Supreme Mistress of Finance, Mrs. Anna M. Young, of Zanesville, O.; Supreme Protector, Mrs. L. A. Hall of Kansas City; Supreme Guard, Mrs. T. Cotton, Weatherford, Tex.

Competitive drills in class A were held today. The judges were Col. Hardin and Capt. Penn of the Fifth Infantry, U.S.A., and Lieut. Hall of the Army Artillery Corps. The companies competing today were Court of Victor, Colo.; Terre Haute, Ind.; Kokomo, No. 9, of Indiana; Court No. 3, of Hot Springs, Ark., and Court Vigo, No. 83, of Terre Haute, Ind. Announcement of prizes will be made tomorrow.

FORTUNE IN GOLD.

STRIKE IN OLD MINE

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] TACOMA (Wash.) Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] T. H. Wilkins and other Tacoma mining men have started to wrest a fortune in gold from the abandoned Gold Reef mine on Gold Bar Run in Placer county, California.

During the days of hydraulic mining, much gold was taken from a portion of the channel on this property. The debris law, which went into effect in 1884, stopped hydraulic mining, and all mining took its place. The company then owning the property spent much time in trying to locate a pay streak and found the west rim of the channel. They failed. Last month, after several months of careful work, Wilkins found the pay streak fifty feet from the main channel, and has since cross-cut it 140 feet. He finds there has never been a failure of this old channel, the pay streak above and below yielding $50 to the per cubic yard. He is now carrying out the pay streak and company in September will be breasting it with a large force of men.

Specimens of gold are now being shown, the product bringing $18 per ounce at Tacoma and California smelters. While tunneling in the placer mine, a free-milling gold quarts vein was cut through, running $40 to $178 per ton. A stamp mill will be installed at once.

MAYOR OF FRESNO.

AFTER EDITOR ROWELL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] FRESNO, Aug. 15.—Superior Court Judge Austin has granted a temporary injunction restraining Mayor Stephens from removing Chester H. Rowell, editor of the Morning Republican, and chairman of the board of library trustees, from the latter position on the ground that he had violated section 230 of the city charter, by taking an active part in the recent primary election.

The Mayor notified Rowell by letter that at the next meeting of the Board of City Trustees he would notify the board of his violation of the charter provision, and immediately thereafter proceed to fill the vacancy thus created. The temporary injunction has the effect of restraining the Mayor from taking such action until after the final disposition of the cause.

The Mayor accepted service of the restraining order, and there the matter will rest until it comes before the courts in due form. Others who have similarly offended, and upon whom the law will be visited by deprivation of office, are Louis Einstein and W. W. Parsons, also of the library board, and Dr. Hare of the health board.

DEGREE OF POCAHONTAS.

INDEPENDENT OF REDMEN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—The Great Council of the Degree of Pocahontas will hereafter be independent of the Order of Redmen, having, after a full discussion, decided to indorse the request that was made for a charter from Great Incohonee Wiley. By this act the auxiliary branch of the order will no longer be under the direction of the Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men of California, but will be under the supervision of the Great Incohonee.

The Great Council decided to meet next August in Sacramento. Toka Council of Vallejo was awarded the prize of $70 for the best degree work. Its percentage was 96; that of Ramona Council was 95, and that of Alperalta 94.

The Committee on Awards announced today to the Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men that it had awarded the first trophy to Pocahontas Tribe, and the second to Modoc.

BOLD PHILIP WATKINS.

APPEARED IN SEATTLE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 15.—Philip D. Watkins, who is being looked for by Pinkerton detectives in every part of the United States, and whose sensational marriage to Miss Marie Shoenfield, daughter of a wealthy Omaha merchant, a few weeks ago, preceded that young lady's complete disappearance, boldly came into Seattle about a week ago and registered at a leading hotel under his own name. He was in this city two days. During that time he went to the National Bank of Commerce and presented a check signed and indorsed by himself, and issued on a bank at Amesbury, Mass., which the Seattle bank cashed. The check was for $100.

A few days afterward the National Bank of Commerce learned that the check was worthless. A complaint was sworn to charging Watkins with obtaining money under false pretenses. All efforts to locate the man have failed.

POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL.

WORK ORDERED TO BEGIN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] BERKELEY, Aug. 15.—The board of trustees of the newly-projected Southern California Polytechnic School have instructed Director Leroy Anderson to proceed with the immediate establishment of the school on the recently-purchased site of 200 acres, one mile from the town of San Luis Obispo. The plans of W. H. Weeks of Watsonville, for two of the school buildings, have been accepted, and work on them is to begin at once. The entire institution when completed will contain some ten buildings, whose cost will aggregate $120,000.

The trustees have authorized Prof. Anderson to go forward in his preparations, arranging for electrical power from San Luis Obispo, developing the water supply for the use of the school, and purchasing five head of choice Ayrshire cattle, on which an option has been secured.

SCENE IN COURT.

ATTY. DEUPREY MAKES THREATS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—Eugene Deuprey, the attorney, attempted to shoot Lawyer George A. Connelly in a hearing before the Civil Service Commissioners today. Market Inspector River was on trial for misconduct on charges preferred by a butcher named Aftergut. Deuprey, who represented Aftergut, insinuated that one of the witnesses had been bribed to give false testimony, and Attorney Connelly, representing River, said: "I consider Mr. Deuprey's remarks entirely uncalled-for and ungentlemanly."

Deuprey sprang from his chair and tried to draw a loaded revolver from an inside coat pocket. He was seized, and the weapon taken from him. Deuprey made threats to harm Connelly, and then withdrew from the case.

DILLARD UNDER ARREST.

HE ADMITS HIS IDENTITY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] VANCOUVER (B. C.) Aug. 15.—William H. Dillard, alleged to have left San Francisco to avoid arrest for forgery, now under arrest here, admits his identity, and expresses his willingness to return to San Francisco for trial. Dillard, who is colored, occupied a responsible position in the Chinese department of the Internal Revenue Office at San Francisco. His hurried departure from San Francisco was alleged to be simultaneous with the discovery that he had issued fraudulent Chinese certificates, and signed the name of Collector Lynch to them.

Since Dillard left San Francisco he has been over the ground from Mexico City to Maine. First he started for the Mexican frontier, but finding himself pursued in that direction, he doubled north toward St. Louis, and from there did a stunt eastward that made the detectives lose many days. Soon he was back in St. Paul, and from there left for Vancouver.

He secured employment as porter in a Pullman palace car, and as such arrived last evening in Vancouver. He had been here about two hours, when a telegram was received from Seattle asking for his apprehension. The San Francisco police had got a line on him, and they had an accurate description, even to the number of his car, and the exact hour of its arrival here.

Dillard is a remarkably clever negro, and displays no little skill in avoiding answering embarrassing questions. No amount of interrogation has caused him to commit himself regarding his conduct in the Federal office at San Francisco.

As a porter he made a great hit. He was so suave and obliging that the passengers gave him phenomenal tips, and he would have been eminently successful in that role had his arrest not prevented further Pullman trips.

Deer a Pest in Shasta.

REDDING, Aug. 15.—Deer are positively becoming a pest in some parts of Shasta county. In the orchards east of the Sacramento River they browse upon the branches of young trees at night. J. B. Arnold has had a young almond orchard almost ruined by their depredations. The farmers are trying to get relief by stalking them at night, and several have been killed in that manner. The deer are very bold. Yesterday one entered the residence portion of Keswick at noon and lingered near some cottages for five minutes.

More Dividends Coming.

SAN JOSE, Aug. 15.—The Cured Fruit Association is sending out demands to all its members who sold their last year's prunes to others than the association for 2 per cent. on the fruit thus sold, the basis value being fixed at $30 per ton for green and $70 per ton for the dried fruit. About $400 growers are subject to this demand under their contracts, and the amount expected to be realized from this source is from $30,000 to $40,000. The money will be distributed by dividend.

Saved His Mother's Life.

CHICO, Aug. 15.—Justice Hills of Ophir township today dismissed the complaint charging Elvin Freer, 14 years of age, with manslaughter in killing his uncle, Walter Low, at Biggs, this county, July 4. The testimony went to show that when young Freer fired the shot which killed Low, the latter was attacking Freer's mother with a heavy stick of wood, and Freer shot to save his mother's life.

The robbers backed out of the door and disappeared. The express office was rifled also, probably by the same men, but nothing of value was secured.

DEATHS IN PHILIPPINES.

President Gives Orders That Names of Privates Who Die Be Cabled to This Country.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] OYSTER BAY, Aug. 15.—The President today gave orders that hereafter the names of the enlisted men of the army who died in the Philippines be cabled to this country once in every two weeks. When the volunteer army was in the archipelago it was the custom to cable the casualties, but on the withdrawal of that army the practice was discontinued.

While it costs on an average $1.50 to cable news to this country of the death of an officer in the Philippines, it costs about $30 for each enlisted man. This difference is due to the fact that the War Department has code numbers for its officers, while the names of the enlisted men, together with their company, regiment, etc., must be sent in full.

PARIS, Aug. 15. 1902.—Mr. Victor Klotz, the well-known head of the Parfumerie Ed. Pinaud, Paris, has been raised to the dignity of Officer of the Legion of Honor by the French Government.

LABOR.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION DEFIES THE PRESSMEN.

MERRY WAR PROMISED BETWEEN THE TWO ORGANIZATIONS.

Resolutions Instructing Against Socialism Are Also Adopted—Los Angeles Union Wants Lots of Money to Spend and Matter Goes to Referendum.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—The International Typographical Union, which has been in session here all week, has disposed of over three hundred propositions for changes in its laws, as well as many resolutions. Among the resolutions defeated were those relating to political idealism.

A hard fight was made to have a committee of nine appointed to report at the next convention on the relation of wages to taxation. It was strongly advocated by the singletax men, but overwhelmingly defeated.

The spirit of the convention was most emphatically shown in the adoption of a resolution against Socialism. Max Hayes of Cleveland had been elected as a delegate of the International Typographical Union to the next convention of the American Federation of Labor, and delegates claim that they did not know he was a Socialist until after he was elected, and for this reason a strong resolution of instructions was adopted.

The agitation over the organization of the International Ladies' Auxiliary has been going on all week. It was settled today by the adoption of a resolution of indorsement by a large majority.

The Los Angeles union explained the trouble in that city, and it was decided to take a referendum vote on the question of making an international test case out of the Los Angeles controversy, and raising a fund for the fight there.

An appropriation of 5 cents per capita per month was asked for the Los Angeles union. This would produce about $25,000 per year. The delegates present agreed to support the tax.

The convention adopted a resolution for an active campaign for a universal eight-hour day. President Lynch and Vice-President Hawkes were directed to act with all local unions, where the working day exceeds eight hours, and secure observance of the eight-hour law.

Resolutions were also adopted for a committee to confer with the Typothetae and the American Newspaper Publishers' Association on apprenticeships; for the encouragement of unions of newspaper writers; for the exclusion of photo and electro-engraved plates not made by union engravers, where unions exist, regulating trademarks and labels; requesting fraternal and insurance societies to insist on the union label; against anti-scalping laws, and against the practice of measuring and charging for photo-engraved plates, causing the employer to pay twice for the same.

HOT TIME OVER HAYES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—During the recess preceding the night session there was much agitation over the introduction of a resolution that was recognized as applying to Hax Hayes of Cleveland as a delegate to the American Federation of Labor. Some of this discussion in different groups was very bitter. As soon as the convention reassembled, a motion was made to reconsider the vote on the resolution instructing against socialism. The motion was laid on the table by a vote of 76 to 40. Pending its consideration some delegates charged that the Socialists were all on hand promptly, and sought to reconsider early, before the other delegates were in their seats. There was loud cheering when the Socialists were defeated for the second time.

Delegate Michaelson charged that a substitute list was kept in one of the San Francisco offices. Delegate Glewell denied it. The matter was referred to the San Francisco union for a report to President Lynch.

The International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union having recently at Baltimore adopted resolutions demanding the reinstatement of the tripartite agreement, or they would prohibit the use of the label of the International Typographical Union, the Committee on All Relations reported to the convention their strongest resolutions of defiance. These resolutions were loudly cheered, and are considered a declaration of war with the pressmen. While the vote was unanimous on the adoption of these resolutions, the delegates insisted on the roll being called, so that all could be recorded in the affirmative.

Although many delegates had gone home tonight, and others were absent, there were eighteen yeas recorded affirmatively on the proposition, which was generally regarded as a proposition for the printers to assume the aggressive in having jurisdiction over all the departments of offices, with the exception of stereotypers and electrotypers, who are now closely affiliated with them. During the discussion there were caustic references to the pressmen going on record to breaking contracts in Chicago and elsewhere.

The night session closed with a discussion on organizing newspaper writers. The reports showed no success in this department, owing to a great variation in salaries, lack of apprenticeship, and disinclination for organization.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE EVIL.

MOVEMENT TO PREVENT IT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Teamsters and their employers, in separate meetings last night, decided to abolish the sympathetic strike from the teaming industry. The employers at a downtown hotel combined to fight the sympathetic strike, and the teamsters at their headquarters agreed that in the future such action could not be taken unless sanctioned by a two-thirds vote of the joint executive committee of all the locals.

The disastrous results of the recent strike by the freight handlers and packing-house teamsters brought both parties to a realization of the evils of the sympathetic strike.

OUTBREAK AT SHENANDOAH.

STRIKERS ATTACK WORKMAN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] SHENANDOAH (Pa.) Aug. 15.—There was an outbreak tonight right under the nose of the troops in camp, and for a time it looked as though serious trouble would occur. The disorder was the result of a mob chasing an alleged unfair workman in the southwestern part of town. As they chased the man up the railroad, throwing stones at him, the nightwatchman of the washery, named Flynn, tried to rescue the man. The watchman was thrown into a creek by those leading in the chase. The crowd kept after the workman, and he ran to the Reading Railroad Station, where a company of infantry was on provost guard. The company was immediately called into formation and attempted to hold the crowd back.

The mob caused a large crowd to gather from all directions, and word was sent to the camp for reinforcements. In nine minutes the entire Twelfth Regiment and a battalion of the Eighth were on the scene. The crowd quickly scattered, and three men who were alleged to have been participants in the assaults on the watchman and the workmen were arrested and taken to the town lockup.

The incident created intense excitement in the town, but all is now quiet.

The three men who were arrested were later given a hearing, and held in $500 each for trial.

FORCE MEN TO QUIT WORK.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] THURMOND (W. Va.) Aug. 15.—One hundred more non-union men are arriving in the New River coal field daily to take the place of strikers. At Rend mines today a gang of 600 strikers heavily armed, marched to the mine and forced sixty non-union workers to abandon work. Deputy marshals were powerless and serious trouble is imminent.

ALL QUIET IN DURYEA.

DEPUTIES OUT ON BAIL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.] WILKESBARRE, Aug. 15.—Duryea, the scene of yesterday's riot, was as quiet as a country village today. Sheriff Jacobs told the owners of the Warneke washery that if they wished to start their works he would see that their employés got ample protection. But there were no employés to go to work.

The deputies and employés of the washery at Duryea who were arrested yesterday afternoon, charged with rioting and committed to jail in default of $3000 bail each, were given a hearing in court here today, and released upon furnishing a bond of $10,000 for the entire party. Immediately after their release the deputies left for Duryea, where it is said they will go on duty again.

POINT TO SETTLEMENT.

LOOKS OF ANTHRACITE STRIKE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.] PITTSBURGH, Aug. 15.—Indications point to the settlement of the anthracite coal strike on or before September 1. Maj. John Biddle, engineer commissioner of the district, is authority for this statement. In passing through here tonight, en route to Detroit, Maj. Biddle said an agent of the anthracite operators in Washington quietly told dealers there to prepare for shipment of anthracite coal after September 1, adding that the mines will then be in operation.

The understanding is that the operators will make some concessions, and the miners also will make a sacrifice.

Firemen Refused to Ratify.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—That the firemen employed by the Manhattan Elevated Railway Company are not satisfied with the agreement between the Grievance Committee and the company whereby the threatend strike was averted, was evidenced by the fact that Just in Time Lodge, No. 149, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen at a meeting last night refused to ratify the agreement.

Say They Were Shanghaied.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Thirty-two men and boys have made affidavit that they were taken from this city a week ago by a detective for one of the railroad lines, and in a locked car were sent to Pittston, Pa., where they are compelled to work in the washeries connected with the coal mines. Two of the men who swear they were shanghaied made their escape and are back in this city. They are David Altman and Frank Felt, butchers.

Tin Plate Mill Shuts Down.

ELWOOD (Ind.) Aug. 15.—Two thousand employés of the American Tin Plate Company were notified today that the plant would shut down indefinitely. The plant resumed last Monday, after a shut down following the refusal of the local employés to accept a reduction in wages. The reduction was accepted, and the mill started. The notices posted state that the suspension of operations is because of a shortage of orders.

THE curious medieval Courts of Love, their laws and customs, will be the subject of an article in the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

GOT INFERNAL MACHINE.

Ex-Gov. Pattison of Pennsylvania Receives Pounds of Gunpowder by Mail and is Greatly Surprised.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An attempt upon the life of Robert E. Pattison, former Governor of Pennsylvania and present Democratic candidate for the same office, was made in this city early this week, information just now coming to light. An infernal machine, containing several pounds of gunpowder in concentrated form was sent to Pattison by mail. The senders neglected to place the means of ignition in the parcel, trusting to circumstances for the working out of their plan. The senders of the packages are under surveillance, and it is expected arrests will be made within a few hours.

When Pattison received the package he opened it. He was under the impression that he had received a sample of some kind, but when informed of the true nature of the substance his surprise knew no bounds. The test of the strength of the powder was made at League Island navy yard, by Capt. Delano, ordnance officer. He declares positively that it was powder of such character as that stored at Fort Mifflin, and he said that there was the possibility that it might have been secured at that place.

NO ROYALIST CONSPIRACY.

Combes is Accused of Playing Politics.

Clericals Stoutly Deny Charges of Premier.

Fifteen Thousand Peasants Make a Pilgrimage to Folgoet.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PARIS, Aug. 15.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The semi-official announcement made after yesterday's Cabinet meeting that the Royalists are directing the agitation against the closing of the religious schools in Brittany has evoked considerable comment. Catholic leaders and the Catholic press deny that the movement is anti-Republican. Count Albert De Mun, who, with Abbe Gayraud, is the guiding spirit of the resistance in Finistere, declares that the movement is entirely spontaneous on the part of the people themselves, and that not an act or a shout has occurred in Brittany to justify the allegation that a Royalist conspiracy exists.

Count De Mun says that the Marseillaise has been sung everywhere, and that it is evident that the government is afraid of the situation, and has invented the Royalist scare in order to create a diversion.

Francois Coppee, in an interview, expressed a similar view in more violent and picturesque language.

The Patrie says it is rumored that the government intended to arrest the Royalist Senator from Finistere, M. De Chamaillard. Ministerialist organs assert that the government possesses curious information as to the manner in which the Breton peasants were deluded into a belief that they could successfully resist the Republic.

The situation at St. Meen and Folgoet remains unchanged. An important pilgrimage to Folgoet took place today, on the occasion of the feast of the Assumption, 15,000 people gathering from the surrounding country. Processions from near-by villages arrived during the morning, headed by priests bearing crosses and banners and chanting.

Admiral De Cuverville, Abbe Gayraud, who is a member of the Chamber of Deputies, and Councilor Soubigon have addressed a protest to Premier Combes, on account of the allegations of Royalism, saying: "We protest against the attempt to give a political character to the demonstrations of an indignant public conscience. While applauding the legitimate protests of the population who are grateful to the sisters, we shall continue to strive to prevent acts of violence. Long live the liberal republic."

EYES TURNED THIS WAY.

ROME, Aug. 15.—Members of religious orders expelled from France, especially sisters, are applying to the Vatican authorities for permission to settle in the United States. Several of them have come to Rome personally for the purpose of urging their requests. A reply has been sent to them pointing out that there are no vacancies in the United States, and besides calling attention to the difficulty arising from the fact that the expelled sisters do not speak the English language.

Canada has been suggested as a better field, as sisters are comparatively scarce there, and because French is spoken in a large part of the dominion. The applicants, however, did not take kindly to the suggestion, and persist in their requests to go to the United States.

The citizens who were defendants in the case, have appealed to the Supreme Court.

England Yields Territory.

Some folks affect surprise because Great Britain voluntarily abandoned a few islands to the republic, so called, of Honduras. It is a popular, but erroneous, belief, that Great Britain never willingly relinquishes sovereignty over any part of this earth above which she has once raised her flag. Toward the close of the first half of the past century, Great Britain firmly established her rule over what is now the Orange River Colony, and in 1854 she renounced that sovereignty, in spite of protests from prominent residents of the territory, from which she then withdrew. In 1890 she ceded to Germany the Island of Heligoland, taken from Denmark in 1807, and historically and geographically part of the Duchy of Schleswig-Holstein, which Prussia took from Denmark. And an English ministry once proposed to cede Gibraltar back to Spain, but public opinion would not tolerate the proposition.—[Brooklyn Eagle.

THE FAIR WILL.

from Tourville, this afternoon, asking if he could be of any service, but all the arrangements had then been completed.

MRS. OELRICHS INFORMED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Harman Oelrichs, elder sister of Charles L. Fair, was out driving when news reached here that her brother and his wife had been killed in an automobile accident in France, says a Herald special from Newport, R. I., where the Oelrichs are spending the summer. On her return to Rose Cliff, her summer home, Mrs. Oelrichs found a cablegram from Paris, announcing the death of her brother and his wife. This she answered, giving instructions to have the bodies embalmed and sent to New York at once. Later in the afternoon Mrs. Oelrichs received a cable dispatch from William K. Vanderbilt, who placed himself at her disposal, and who, in all probability, will attend to the duty of sending the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Fair to this country.

A cablegram was received at Newport early in the day announcing that Mr. and Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont and her daughter, the Duchess of Marlborough had already sailed from England. It was out of the question, therefore, that they had heard anything before their departure.

Mrs. Oelrichs was preparing to give a dinner of sixty at Rose Cliff Friday night. As soon as the information of the catastrophe was received, Mrs. Oelrichs began to send out messages recalling the dinner invitations. She was completely prostrated by the news and saw no one.

RELATIVES GOING WEST.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The Evening World says today that Mrs. Anna E. Nelson, mother of the late Mrs. Charles Fair, accompanied by her son, A. G. Nelson, a half-brother of the late Mrs. Fair, will leave their home at Newmarket, N. J., Sunday, for San Francisco, where they will employ lawyers to represent them in the distribution of the Fair estate. The paper adds that the trip is made at the instigation of George Harvey of San Francisco, who had telegraphed Mrs. Nelson to come immediately.

The paper also quotes Edward S. Lefler, a real-estate dealer of this city, as saying that he and his family would take steps to protect their interests as heirs. Lefler's mother was a sister of Mrs. Charles Fair. Among Mrs. Fair's heirs, beside her mother, others who live in the East are said to be Mrs. Elizabeth Bunnell of Union, N. J.; Mrs. Laura Leonard of Caldwell, N. J.; William B. Smith of Newmarket, N. J., and a number of the members of the Lefler family.

ONE OF THE HEIRS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BOULDER (Colo.) Aug. 15.—C. J. Smith of the firm of Smith & Debacker, real-estate dealers of Boulder, is a brother of the late Mrs. Charles Fair, who, with her husband, was killed yesterday in an automobile accident at Paris, and, therefore, one of her principal heirs.

Smith said that all his family lived in New Jersey. They are: Mrs. Sarah Lesser of Orange, Mrs. Laura Leonard of Caldwell and Mrs. Libbie Brunnell and Will Smith of Newmarket. Besides these, a half-brother, Abraham Nelson, lives with Smith's mother, Mrs. Abraham Nelson, at Newmarket.

Smith went to Denver this afternoon on receipt of a telegram from a nephew connected with a New York law firm, advising him to see an attorney. To settle the question of who died first in the lamentable affair at Paris is a matter which will engage the earliest attention of the Smith and Nelson families.

SAN FRANCISCO'S LOSS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 15.—The terrible and sudden death of Charles Fair and his wife by the collapse of their automobile near Evereaux, France, yesterday, means a great loss to San Francisco. Just before his departure for Europe, in May last, Charles Fair had practically completed plans for $5,000,000 worth of improvements to the Fair property in this city, and it was his intention, on his return from his sojourn in Europe, to sign contracts for the work in contemplation.

The matter of the disposition of the estates of the dead millionaire and his wife has given rise to some little speculation as to what will become of Charles Fair's portion of his deceased father's immense holdings. It is a known fact that a very short time ago, both Mr. and Mrs. Fair made wills disposing of their separate holdings and the community property, but just what the documents provide for, Messrs. Knight and Haggerty, the attorneys for the Charles Fair estates, do not feel at liberty to make public at this time. Mrs. Fair was possessed of property to the value of $350,000, and it is understood that her will bequeaths her holdings to relatives in New Jersey, but in the event of evidence being adduced that Charles Fair succumbed to his injuries first, Mrs. Fair's interest in the community property will naturaly revert to her heirs, and it is this point on which the disposition of the millionaire's estate largely hangs.

It has become known that, at a late hour last night, the public administrator applied for letters of administration in the estate of Charles Fair and his wife. Judge Carroll Cook has not as yet granted the application of the public administrator, preferring to delay matters until proof of death has been received in this city. This delay will give the Fair attorneys an opportunity to prepare papers countering the plea of the public administrator. The matter will come up for hearing in Judge Cook's court tomorrow.

REDUCTION IN RATES PROMISED BY HILL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 15.—The reductions in grain rates promised to Minnesota and the Dakotas by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific systems will go into effect within a week, so President J. J. Hill of the Great Northern stated tonight. Hill returned from his four-weeks Western trip tonight.

"We will lower grain rates in the Northwest within a week," he said. "We want these rates to benefit Western farmers, and want them to be effective in time to move the crop of the Northwest. The reductions will cover the entire Northwest, and other lines than the coast lines will join in them.

"The railroads agreed to reductions both of merchandise and grain rates which, offhand, will amount in the aggregate to a saving of $2,225,000 to the producers. This saving is represented in the total of the reductions in grain and merchandise rates which we have made since the first of the year."

THE DAIRY.

Modern Dairy Knocks Posey.

A charming sight it is to see the pretty maid milking her cow, and poetic fancies are aroused by the lowing of the kine as the herd winds slowly o'er the lea, but the practical up-to-date dairyman, the man who supplies his city cousin with pure milk and who makes it pay him well—such a man says in response to these poetic phrases, "Oh, cut it out." All he wants to know is whether the pretty maid's cow will stand all the scientific tests, whether the animal will give more than 5000 pounds of milk or 200 pounds of butter a year. Many cows do much better than that. And as for the herd winding o'er the lea, the scientific dairyman will tell you that it does the milking cows more harm than good to be out where insects can get at them.

The dairyman has become a good bit of a chemist, and what he does today is the result of scientific study and experimenting that have kept many minds and hands busy for a generation.

How great a change this has been is indicated by the fact that a comparatively few years ago a herd of grade cows belonging to Cornell University averaged a little more than three thousand pounds of milk a cow during the year, and this herd was considered to be doing great things in the way of milk production. Today the descendants of these same cows are averaging close to eight thousand pounds of milk a cow.—[Mail and Express.

IN THE WEE SMA' HOURS.

BY AMY LEE

[Published under special arrangement with A. S. McClure Co., New York.]

MRS. RUGGLES disapproved—hysterically. James Anstruther said less, but thought more deeply. But in the end Elsa triumphed.

There were so many things, she insisted, that she would need for their little home when the wedding occurred in October—things without which she could not keep house, but which her mother's limited income would not permit her to buy. Seven dollars a week and her three meals daily, with absolutely nothing to do but hand out keys and mail. The hotel was within walking distance of their home, so she could save every cent of her salary, to say nothing of what her mother could save on their table in her absence.

Mrs. Ruggles had the old-fashioned southern prejudice against business life for women. In a vague way she realized that it was perhaps a particularly perilous position in which to place her pretty daughter. Then, too, she looked forward with dread to the three meals alone each day. Little did her daughter realize how much she would save on the table, how seldom she would set forth for herself more than tea and bread and fruit.

Anstruther felt the rooted objection which every good, manly fellow must make at thought of his sweetheart working for her daily bread. He wanted to assume that burden himself, but Elsa had insisted upon waiting until every cent was paid on their home nest. Moreover, he disliked the publicity of it all, the phase of life which she must inevitably see day after day. But Elsa alternately pouted and cajoled until she won her point, and was duly installed as key and mail clerk at the Stuyvesant House.

At first she was radiantly happy in her work. The manager of the hotel, Mr. Paxton, had been her father's friend and took more than passing interest in his new employé. It was pleasant to wear her long, trailing black skirt and a fresh, dainty shirt waist every day, and to sweep into the dining-room, where well-trained waiters served her. And pleasanter still it was to buy certain little luxuries she had long wanted to add to her wedding outfit.

But by and by the serpent of envy raised its head in her new-found Eden. The regular guests passed her in such a bewildering variety of frocks that her own simple outfit turned rusty in her eyes. Out of town people, in for a few days' shopping, sent home C.O.D. packages that made her own purchases look absurdly small. She discovered that what appeared like luxuries to her were the everyday necessities to the majority of Stuyvesant House guests. And why should these women who carried their beautiful gowns with such poor grace be given all the good things of life while she had so little to set off her natural attractions? There were the two daughters of a Butte mine operator who wore rings outside their gloves and tipped the waiters with crisp bills. They had actually offered her a tip one day as she handed out their keys. Thinking of it all, a fever sometimes burned in her veins that even the overworked electric fan above her head could not counteract.

Many of the guests tried to patronize her, but she kept herself proudly in hand. As for the men, she vouchsafed them only the demurest "good morning" when they made frequent and often unnecessary trips to her desk. This—until Ainslee came. Ainslee represented a prominent New York importer, ordered his clothes from a Broadway tailor, knew life and how to enjoy it, and had been a privileged guest at the Stuyvesant ever since he had been on the road. He was a special favorite with Mr. Paxton, who granted him the unusual favor of an introduction to the new clerk.

Ainslee was to stay a week this time. When Mr. Paxton heard it, he regretted the introduction. Ainslee convinced the head waiter that it was the diplomatic thing and likewise a pecuniary advantage to that dignitary to give him a seat at Miss Ruggles's table. Later he assured his pretty table vis-a-vis that she was looking peaked and pale. Her position was too confining. She needed more fresh air in the evenings. Now, the very next night he must run out to Lake Placid to meet a customer. Would she go along? It meant a lovely trolley ride, dinner with music on the piazza and a summer spectacle at the Casino. It would take him but a short time to go over business details with his customer, and in the mean time she could be drinking in that much-needed fresh air.

Elsa consulted both her mother and her fiancé, but with an air of finality that showed the futility of objections. A note of complaint sounded in her voice. She never went anywhere, while everybody at the hotel seemed to live for pleasure. Anstruther might have reminded her that last year they had gone everywhere together, but that now he was denying himself every pleasure to make the final payment on their home. Instead he kissed her long and tenderly and said he felt quite sure that Mr. Paxton would permit her to meet no one who was not a fit companion.

It was a great evening for the unsophisticated Elsa, who did not realize that the money Mr. Ainslee lavished was his firm's and was used to entertain a customer rather than herself. In reality she was merely a side issue, a reward that Ainslee felt he deserved for the efforts he was putting forth to secure a new line of trade. It would all appear in his expense account.

Then Ainslee was so different from her own quiet lover. She wondered if all New York men would be like this—so excessively watchful of her comfort in small things, so entertaining in their persiflage and delicate in their flattery. She wished that Anstruther had accompanied them. Lately he had seemed so preoccupied and was less mindful of her little needs when in public. Yet when she reached home she was not entirely sure that she had enjoyed the evening. Perhaps the serpent of discontent had raised his head too boldly this time.

The next evening as she was leaving her post Mr. Paxton came to her, wearing an anxious expression. The night clerk had been taken ill, and the chief, day clerk had been called to the bedside of a dying sister. Could she, would she, stay on duty until he could secure someone to relieve her? He would gladly do so himself, but he had a political dinner on hand. Elsa promptly sent word to her mother, also a message to Anstruther to call for her shortly after midnight, when someone would surely be able to take her place.

It was her first experience with night work, and she was entertained by this new phase of hotel life—the late arrivals, the theater parties (for some of the playhouses were still open,) the tired tourists returning from trips up the lake. Midnight came, but no Anstruther. The head porter offered to relieve her on watch and send her home in a cab, but she insisted upon remaining, feeling sure that something had detained Anstruther.

One o'clock—and 2! A slight commotion echoed from the main corridor, and a group of men entered noisily, Ainslee in the center. They stopped and blinked uncertainly at the circle of light surrounding the office; then Ainslee, with a remnant of the grace she had admired the night before, strolled to the desk and stretched forth his hand. His companions watched him with wavering, watery glances.

"Y'oughter been 'long tonight. We turned Lake Placid red—bright red. It's shame 'or pretty girl like you"—

Something in Elsa's horrified gaze checked his flow of words, and a hand crunched down upon his shoulder. It was Anstruther, white to the lips, with the delayed message in his pocket and wrath in his soul.

Fairly throwing the intoxicated man into the arms of the head porter, who had been roused from his nap behind the telegraph desk, he strode round to the door leading into the office. There his manner changed. Elsa's trembling figure and frightened face caused a revulsion of feeling. Very gently he reached for her hat and gloves. With gentle deference he offered them to her and held open the door for her to pass out. To the porter as he passed he spoke a few curt words. To the girl he said nothing until they reached the street—then:

"We must have a cab, dearest. You are still trembling.

Oh, the wealth of love and tenderness and protection in his tones! She clasped his arm lovingly.

"No, no; let us walk. I want to have time to think before I see mamma. She must never know the truth; it would grieve her so, and I must find some reasonable excuse to offer her for leaving the hotel at once."

And so, arm in arm and in the blessed silence of those who once more understand each other perfectly, they walked away from the glare of the entrance into the shadowy street that led toward—home.

NO WONDER HE PERSPIRES!

With red hot drinks and hot red meats, he makes his blood caloric,
And then calls down the Weather Man in language metaphoric.
He's hotter 'neath the collar than the man who's skinned at poker,
Nor knows he's acting out the part of "Each man his own stoker."

By courtesy of the New York World this illustration is reproduced. It caused comment, followed by thought.

It's a sure matter of fact and certain proposition that one can keep cool and comfortable in the hottest weather if common sense is used on the food and drink question.

Leave off liquors, meat, coffee and tea. Breakfast on fruit, a dish of Grape-Nuts breakfast food and cream, and perhaps one or two soft eggs.

Let it go at that, unless you want a slice of toast; and repeat this meal during the day.

Cut out the hot drinks on hot days. Sip a little water not too cold, or some cold Postum Food Coffee with a squeeze of lemon in it.

Food experts and chemists know why Grape-Nuts food does not heat the blood, but, on the contrary, furnishes the exact kind of food from which Nature builds the soft gray matter in brain and nerve cells.

If your nervous system is well fed and kept up to full strength you can be comfortable in any weather. It is the nervously depleted people that suffer in hot weather.

Pin your faith to good, sensible and scientific food, and mark the increase of comfort.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15.—Fast, snappy ball on the part of the visitors and a bunch of bad errors on the part of the Senators gave the game to Los Angeles in a walk today by a score of 7 to 1. In the second inning, the Looloos got four men across the plate with one little single that did not arrive until three men had tallied. The errors were in throwing, and were so wild and woolly that they were amusing in their happening and were laughed at by the friends of the home team. The Los Angeles players put up a quiet, gentlemanly game, full of ginger. They played together well and did more effective team work than ever before in this city, much to the delight of the fans, who heartily applauded the visitors.

Gentlemanly Game in the Capital City.

Corbett-McGovern Contest is Postponed—Five-thousand-dollar Stake.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 15.—Fast, snappy ball on the part of the visitors and a bunch of bad errors on the part of the Senators gave the game to Los Angeles in a walk today by a score of 7 to 1. In the second inning, the Looloos got four men across the plate with one little single that did not arrive until three men had tallied. The errors were in throwing, and were so wild and woolly that they were amusing in their happening and were laughed at by the friends of the home team. The Los Angeles players put up a quiet, gentlemanly game, full of ginger. They played together well and did more effective team work than ever before in this city, much to the delight of the fans, who heartily applauded the visitors.

REDFERN TO RIDE.

M'DONOUGH ENGAGES HIM.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SARATOGA, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arthur Redfern may ride in California next winter, for W. O'B. McDonough, millionaire owner of the great Ormonde, and other well-known horses. The clever work of the jockey attracted the attention of McDonough, who has been spending the summer in New York, and he is making an effort to engage him.

Owing to his contract with the Pepper stable, Redfern will be busy till the close of the season here, and may not be able to leave for California until December 1. The season out there opens November 15, but McDonough is willing to wait, if satisfactory terms can be arranged.

Among the youngsters that will carry the colors of McDonough this season are Honiton and Organdie, both of which showed up well last spring. Honiton beat Alsono, which has been displaying such good form since he made his eastern début. McDonough is an enthusiastic admirer of horses, and takes active interest in breeding. He is greatly pleased with the present meeting, and said today that he would probably send a string East next season.

QUEENAN AND TURNER.

FORMER PICKED AS WINNER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SEATTLE, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The coming contest between Perry Queenan and Rufe Turner has been set for August 28. They will battle for the lightweight championship of the Pacific Coast. They will box the lightweight limit.

These clever lightweights met in Stockton, some time ago, and after battling twenty rounds, the battle was declared a draw. Queenan, who is very popular in this section, is picked by the local sports to win.

He has established a first-class gymnasium here, and proposes to establish a fighter's paradise.

Tom Tracey and Tommy Reilly are in fine fettle for their coming contest which takes place here tomorrow night. The local sporting men seem to slightly favor Reilly.

Use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Exclusively Whenever an Alcoholic Stimulant Is Required.

Duffy's pure Malt Whiskey is the only pure, reliable alcoholic stimulant to administer to patients in cases of grip, consumption, dyspepsia, general debility, nervousness, weak heart and low fevers.

Montevue Hospital, Frederick, Md.
DUFFY MALT WHISKEY CO.

Gentlemen—It has been about one year since I first began to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey both in prescription and laboratory work in this institution. I find it a most effectual, invigorating, alcoholic stimulant, and prefer it to any other, as I believe it to be absolutely pure. Its action on the general economy and the entire system is more effective than any other whiskey I have tried, and our patients take more kindly to it. As long as the quality remains at the present standard I shall always use it wherever an alcoholic stimulant is required, especially in that class of convalescents who need what we call "predigested foods." I find from experience that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey acts gently, not vigorously, on the digestive system. We will always use it to the exclusion of all others on account of its absolute purity and the excellent results we have received from its use. I am, very kindly,

H. P. FAHRNEY, M.D.

FREE—If you are sick and run down, write us. It will cost you nothing to learn how to regain health, energy and vitality. Medical booklet and testimonials sent free. It is the only whiskey recognized by the government as a medicine. This is a guarantee. Refuse substitutes and imitations. There is none "just as good" as Duffy's. Record of 50 years for purity and excellence. All druggists and grocers, or direct, $1.00 a bottle. DUFFY'S MALT WHISKEY CO., Rochester, N. Y.

Clever Fraud Detected Whereby They Have Been Induced to Smoke "Stuffers" Instead of Costly Cigars.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Morgan Marshall, a cigar dealer of this city, has been held in $2500 bail by United States Commissioner Shields on a charge of violating the Internal Revenue laws relating to destroying stamps on cigar boxes. The Internal Revenue officers learned recently that some one was buying empty cigar boxes from clubs, cafés and hotels where expensive cigars were used. If they were for imported goods and in good condition from 50 cents to $1 each was paid for the boxes, providing the stamps were not destroyed, as required by law. As in clubs and café cigars are served on trays, the clerks and the stewards have every opportunity to preserve the boxes in good condition. Marshall denies his guilt.

According to persons well informed about the cigar trade, there are factories in this city and

HOW THE TIMES TREATS LABOR.

THE LOS ANGELES TIMES regularly pays to its skilled, reliable and acceptable workmen wages that average from $3.75 to $4.50 per day for time work, and from $4 to $5.50 per day for piece work. These rates are higher than are paid by any competing newspaper; and another advance has recently been agreed upon. The Times pays larger sums weekly, monthly and yearly for labor than any journal in all the Southwest. Its cash disbursements on this account between August, 1890, and the end of September, 1901, aggregated $1,007,050.81, and its annual expenditures for labor of all classes, both skilled and unskilled, now average more than $375,000 per year. There never has been any attempt, in any quarter, to deny these specific and telling facts, and the proprietors challenge such denial if made. Not for years has The Times had any trouble with its workmen, who are independent of unions, loyal to their employers and to themselves, well satisfied and prosperous. The Times controls its own business in its own way, subject only to the laws of the land; and no interference with that control can be lawfully or justly made. The result of its fixed policy has proven highly beneficial to all concerned, and the justness and correctness of its course have for years past received public approval in most marked and conspicuous ways, the circulation and advertising patronage of the paper steadily and largely outstripping that of all local rivals. THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

H. G. OTIS, President and General Manager.

Since no attempt whatever has ever been made in any quarter to refute, or even dispute, the accuracy of the foregoing authoritative statements, our defeated maligners are estopped; and the public is amply warranted in giving no credence to contemporary hostile assaults upon The Times management in the matter of its relations to its workmen, or vice versa. Falsehood must yield to truth.

BUSINESS.

Yesterday's exchanges at the Los Angeles clearinghouse amounted to $658,081.90, as against $473,955.12 for the corresponding day of last year. The figures of yesterday are close to the season's average and indicate active business conditions.

Wheat spurted early, but holders of September stuff unloaded later. Corn was helped by the strength of wheat. Provisions were irregular.

CHARITY BEGINS AT HOME.

Another evidence of the fact that the people of California should view with suspicion, if not with alarm, the adoption of a reciprocity treaty with Cuba, is furnished in a report on labor conditions in Cuba, made by a special agent of the Department of Labor, Victor S. Clark. In the course of his report, Mr. Clark, referring to new fields of labor that will shortly be opened in the island of Cuba, states that fruit raising is an industry of great possibilities. He says that the vine and the olive have never been grown, because the Spanish forbade this, in the interest of their own producers. However, what might be done in this line is indicated by the statement that a single vine in Cuba, grown under a trellis, produces several hundred pounds of raisin grapes each year.

Thus we see that it is not only the sugar-beet growers and the citrus-fruit growers of Southern California whose industry would be damaged by the admission, at a low rate of duty, of these products, from an island which is exceedingly fertile, where labor is very cheap, and where the rate of transportation to the great centers of population in the Eastern States is trifling, compared with that which our growers are compelled to pay. In addition to these people, Californians, who have invested so much money, time and experience in vineyards and olive groves, and have had to encounter so many difficulties and discouragements, in the shape of insect pests and occasionally unfavorable climatic conditions on the one hand, and depressed markets on the other, would also be threatened with a severe blow from a new and unexpected source. Nor are these the only ones engaged in horticulture in California who would have cause to regard with dismay the letting down of the tariff bars on products of the fertile island of Cuba, which is doubtless able to produce almost every one of the valuable horticultural products on which California chiefly depends for its support.

That all the great newspapers east of the mountains are not by any means inclined to sneer at the beet-sugar industry is shown by an excellent article which recently appeared in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. That journal says:

"A few foolish Republican papers have allowed themselves to drift into ridicule of the beet-sugar industry because it has not yet reached great dimensions. American beet sugar has made a highly encouraging start, in view of the cost of original plants. There is not the slightest reason to suppose that the industry cannot be rendered as successful in the United States as it is in Germany and France, two countries that produce more beet sugar than their inhabitants can use. No country consumes as much as the United States or pays so much for the imported article; so the field for the home production of sugar is one of vast extent. The number of beet-sugar factories in this country has increased in five years from seven to forty-two, and the tons produced annually from 40,000 to 185,000. New plants projected for the present year number eighty-three, with a capital of $50,000,000, capable of an annual output of 550,000 tons, and calling for $20,000,000 worth of beets from farmers. Why any Republican paper should select this interest for an exceptional assault can only be explained by the supposition that the editor is a secret enemy of the protective policy or a silly victim of Democratic wiles."

After going on to say that twelve years ago Democratic newspapers tried to laugh down the idea that the United States by any protective measure could produce its own tin plate, and yet ten years later, in 1900, there were sixty-six tin-plate establishments in the United States, employing nearly 15,000 wage earners, and turning out products valued at over $41,000,000, exceeding by several thousand tons the total production of Great Britain, the Globe-Democrat continues:

"American beet sugar is just as certain to rise to importance as was American tin, and through the same agency of Republican protection. No real Republican chimes in with Democrats in making sport of any 'infant American industry.' The vast manufacturing interests of the United States have all passed through that stage, aided by the protective principles that have been a vital part of Republicanism ever since the party was born."

This is the right kind of talk. The sugar-beet and fruit growers of California ask no charity at the hands of Congress. They simply ask that Congress will keep hands off, and give them at least the same chance that is afforded to great, wealthy, and well-established manufacturing industries, which have never had to contend with one-tenth of the difficulties and discouragements that have assailed these enterprising, courageous and persistent men who are transforming a section which a great American statesman once referred to as a "worthless desert" into a region of gardens, vineyards and orchards, the product of which is shipped by the trainload to all parts of the world. Surely, if the Republican party values the support, not only of California, but of all the States that are now successfully growing sugar beets, it will hesitate before approving legislation that would have the result of dealing a damaging blow at this industry. Charity is a good thing, but let Congress not forget that charity begins at home.

BACK TO THE FARM.

A man who has been making a tour through the Western States has given the New York Sun a description of the great change that has come over the farming industry in that section during the past few years. With 60-cent wheat and 50-cent corn, the farmers have been making money and improving their conditions. They have been adding to their holdings and buying small traction engines, which greatly facilitate the work of plowing, thrashing and other farm labors. Consequently, it is said that the farmers' sons are now becoming more content with life on the farm, and many of them go to the State agricultural schools, and take a course in scientific agriculture. Then, the rural free delivery has brought outlying settlements within touch of civilization, so that they do not any longer feel that they are out of the world.

This is a good thing. Patriotic Americans cannot but "view with alarm" the prevailing tendency to concentrate in large cities. Anything that will tend to keep the boys on the farm is a distinctive gain, not only for themselves, but for the country at large. Much as he may occasionally growl at prevailing conditions, the fact remains that, in a good agricultural section, and where he does not attempt to cultivate too much land, there is no such independent man on earth as the farmer—that is to say, among those who have to work for a living. It may be added that in no section of the world are the conditions so ideal for farm life as in Southern California, where an industrious man may make a good living, and save money, on ten acres of irrigated land, and where all the best features of city and country life may be found combined.

Criminal prosecutions followed these disclosures, without any direct results, so far as convictions are concerned, and it is generally believed that Mrs. Craven was eventually paid a large sum as a balm to her wounded heart, and as a lubricant to soften the stones along the line of title to the property.

"One of the daughters had previously married Herman Oelrichs, a New York clubman, while the youngest later on became the wife of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and while the litigation affecting the rights of Mrs. Craven to the Fair millions had, in a measure, been the means of bringing all the children closer together, there never was anything like a complete reconciliation in the family, and Charley Fair has gone to his last account occupying the unenviable position of a man surrounded by millions yet without the priceless jewels of a love that makes blood thicker than water.

"There never was any issue to his marriage, and in the absence of a will, his property, valued at fully $10,000,000, will naturally become the subject of legal squabble. The chances are, however, that he has made a will, and if he has I miss my guess if Joe Harvey, the Sausalito poolroom operator, does not come in for a big slice of the estate, as the two were always as thick as peas in a pod while young Fair was in San Francisco, and it is well known that Harvey never had much to worry him from a financial standpoint with such a backing."

BOY'S LEG CRUSHED.

James O'Neil, Young Boy Who Supports His Mother, Caught Under Wheels of Runaway Wagon.

James O'Neil, a fourteen-year-old boy living with his mother at No. 555 Central avenue, and who works for Shattuck & Desmond, was run over by a runaway wagon of Maier & Zobelein's on Central avenue near Second street yesterday afternoon, and was taken to the Receiving Hospital with his left leg broken in two places and badly crushed.

The boy was sitting on the curb a few minutes after he had quit work at noon, when the brewery team came tearing along on the dead run. Before he could get out of the way he had been knocked down, and the two off wheels had crushed his leg.

The boy, who is the sole support of his mother, was well cared for at the emergency hospital, and was later taken to the Sister's Hospital, where his expenses will be paid by the firm that employed him.

AT THE CITY HALL.

RISE IN SALARIES FAVORED BY MERCHANTS.

MAJORITY VOTED FOR THE POLICE COMMISSION SCHEDULE.

All Favor Twenty Additional Policemen in Any Event—Numerous Suggestions Regarding Schedules, Rules and Reorganization—Chamber of Commerce Report.

Next Monday the two weeks' postponement of action on the police salary ordinance voted by the Council at the request of the Chamber of Commerce, Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association and the Municipal League, will expire, and it is probable that the proposed schedules will be considered, and the salary question finally settled.

In anticipation of a decisive vote in the Council, both those who favor and those who oppose an increase in police salaries, have been collecting data and preparing petitions for submission. Friends of the force have secured an expression from many of the most prominent bankers and business men in the city in favor of the schedule indorsed by the Police Commission, which would give patrolmen $900 the first year, $1000 the second, $1100 the third, and $1200 the fourth year. This petition will be presented to the Council on Monday, if circumstances favor. Many other petitions and protests will undoubtedly be forthcoming to make the life of a Councilman the more interesting.

Yesterday the Chamber of Commerce filed with the City Clerk an epitome of police salaries paid in seventeen cities in the United States, showing an average yearly salary of $854. In six cities in the same class as Los Angeles, the average yearly compensation is given at $879.

A communication, signed by Secretary F. J. Zeehandelaar of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, was also filed. The document shows the result of the postal ballot taken to determine the sentiment of members of the association, and is as follow:

The request of this association, granted by your honorable body, to postpone action in the matter of the proposed increase of salaries of the members of the police department, was to enable us to obtain the views of our members on this subject, of so much importance to the entire community.

With that object in view, we submitted to our members the following three questions:

"Do you favor an increase of salaries?"

"Do you favor a graduated scale of salaries, as proposed, as follows: First year, $900; second year, $1000; third year, $1100; fourth year, $1200?"

"Do you favor the appointment of twenty additional policemen, and also the increase of salary? If not, which do you prefer?"

The result, briefly stated, is as follows:

With very few exceptions, the opinion was unanimously expressed that the police department at the present time is entirely inadequate to give the people the protection required in a growing city; therefore, the appointment of twenty additional policemen is generally favored.

Fifty-nine of the answers are totally opposed to any increase in the present salaries of the police officers, and the members who so expressed themselves believe that the salaries now paid are amply sufficient, in view of the character of the labor, and the hours devoted to their duties, as compared with the salaries paid by commercial and manufacturing concerns.

The number of those who favor a graduated scale, as proposed in question No. 2, is sixty-seven.

A large number of answers have been received, suggesting different methods of graduating the scale of salaries, and also the maximum salary that should be paid, as well as the minimum on which a police officer should be appointed.

It is impossible to give these suggestions in detail, but many favor a graduated scale, commencing with $900, with a maximum of $1200, and extending over a period of from eight to ten years.

The view is generally expressed that an increase of salary should not be based simply on the length of service, but that the standard of promotion should be merit, and an efficient discharge of the duties of the office.

In view of the many and complicated and varied opinions expressed upon this matter, and its vast importance to the taxpayers, the board of directors of this association beg to submit the following compromise which we believe is a solution of the question, fair to the members of the police department, and just to the taxpayers.

We would recommend that a graduated scale of salaries be adopted, as follows: $900 per year for the first year, $950 for the second, $1000 for the third, $1050 for the fourth, $1100 for the fifth, $1150 for the sixth, and $1200 for the seventh year, and thereafter.

We would further recommend that the schedule if adopted, as above indicated, affect only future appointees, and that the officers now receiving a salary of $1000, if not entitled to same under that schedule, retain their present salaries, and that those whose salaries shall be increased, according to the graduated schedule, be placed in receipt of that salary at once.

In view of the fact that the members of the detective force have served for many years as police officers, and have acquired a general knowledge of the criminal element of this city, and are required to perform duties more exacting and during a longer period of time, we recommend that their salaries be placed at $125 per month.

In this connection, we desire to state that with salaries as above indicated, this city is entitled to the very best service that can possibly be obtained.

Believing that the affairs of municipality should be conducted on strictly business principles, we would suggest that before a new schedule of salaries is put in force, the entire police department be reorganized, and that those members who are superannuated and who are unable to perform all and any duty for which a police officer may be called upon, either through age or infirmity, be placed on the pension roll, and that the force be filled up with able-bodied, young, intelligent men.

We would further recommend that the department be placed upon a civil-service basis, and that political influence be sacrificed, for the benefit of this community, so that the appointments be made upon merit and civil-service examinations, which have proved very successful in every city where this plan has been adopted.

If your honorable body coincide with the views herein expressed, which we believe are fair and just to the people, as well as the police officers, we earnestly request that these recommendations be embodied in a communication to the honorable Board of Police Commissioners, to be acted upon at the earliest possible opportunity.

PUBLIC WORKS.

FRANCHISE ORDINANCE.

An ordinance granting to the California-Pacific Railway Company a franchise on Hill street, 150 feet north from Third street, and on Girard street 250 feet west from Georgia street was favorably considered by the Board of Public Works yesterday, and it will be recommended to the Council for passage on Monday. The San Pedro line of the company is fast nearing completion, and it is desired to commence building operations at once, on a depot for the suburban traffic on the west side of Hill street, just north of Third street. The franchise on Girard street is designed to connect with the new power-house, which the California-Pacific Company, controlled by the Hooks, is constructing near the Traction power-house on land formerly owned by Gen. Forman.

Attorney Frank J. Thomas appeared before the board yesterday and explained the puupose of the application. He stated that the company desires to keep its cars off the street, and intends to construct a new city depot at once if the permit to construct a railroad is granted. The ordinance was drawn by the City Attorney, and is in the same form as similar permits granted to other companies.

Ex-Supervisor R. E. Wirsching and a delegation of property owners on East Seventh street between Main and San Pedro street appeared before the board to urge that the conduit district be extended to cover that portion of the street before the paving is done. The Home Telephone Company has already put down its conduit, but the Sunset Telephone Company has not. The property owners ask that the telephone wires and the new water mains be placed under ground before the improvement work begins. Chairman Bowen assured the delegation the support of the board in the enterprise. The support of President Herman Silver of the Water Commission was also sought.

Action on the petition of A. and C. E. Campbell-Johnston for a deed to the right of way across a reservoir site in Garvanza was deferred until after September 7, when a third franchise will be offered for sale over Pasadena avenue, Avenue 64, and other streets, as requested by the Campbell-Johnston brothers. R. E. Brinker, who is presumed to be acting in the interests of the Traction Company, purchased the first two franchises, and it is probable that he will be a bidder for this one. C. E. Campbell-Johnston stated yesterday that he is very confident that they will get the franchise, and if not another application will be made. The strip of land through the reservoir site connects the franchise in the county owned by the Campbell-Johnstons with the franchise to be sold September 7. If Brinker gets the franchise, the strip of land will be offered for sale to the highest bidder, in all probability.

WALKER'S PLAN.

TO PAY FOR WATERWORKS.

Councilman Frank Walker does not believe that the first cost of the water plant should fall entirely on the consumers of water, and he does not favor the plan to pay interest and sinking fund on the $2,000,000 issue from general taxation. Walker has a third plan, which he believes will distribute the burden equally, and make the owners of unimproved property pay their just proportion of the purchase price.

Walker thinks the front-foot rule, which is operative in other cities, the best method of assessment, and he has called the attention of several of his colleagues on the Charter Revision Committee to this plan. Briefly stated, Walker's system contemplates the assessment of all lots according to frontage on both front and side streets, wherever water mains are now laid, all other lots to be assessed as soon as mains are laid on adjoining streets.

Corner lots, according to the plan, should be assessed for one-half the total measurement of the front and the side of the lot. Where lots front on two streets having water mains, one-half of the frontage should be assessed to each street, if the lot is less than 165 feet deep; if there is a main in only one street, full assessment should be charged to the frontage on said street; if lots are more than 165 feet deep, and front on two streets having water mains, they should be assessed on each street at the regular frontage rate.

Under this system the Water Commission and the Superintendent of Waterworks are charged with making an estimate in January of each year of the approximate cost of construction and necessary improvements for the ensuing year, and on this basis a levy would be made on all property fronting on streets where water mains have been laid.

Walker believes that this plan has much to recommend it, as it would not bring too much pressure on high-priced realty in the business section, where comparatively little water is used for domestic purposes, as would a levy in the tax rate.

At the present time 20 per cent. of the income from the sale of water is placed in a fund to meet the interest and sinking fund on the bonds. This plan has met with considerable opposition, and one member of the Finance Committee has openly declared his hostility to the present method. The Council has never taken any action in the matter, but in default of other provision, the City Auditor and City Attorney have made sure of the money to meet the interest and sinking fund, and to protect the credit of the city.

Yesterday the Finance Committee received the report of the clerk of the board of equalization summarizing the toothings of the revised assessment rolls. Next week the labor of fixing the tax rate will be undertaken by the Finance Committee.

Councilman Allen declares in favor of a lower tax rate, in view of the increased assessment valuation of city property. He says it is too early to give figures, but that the committee will use its best endeavors to figure a low rate. If no levy is made for the water bonds, it is generally believed that the rate will be close to $1.10, as compared with $1.25 this year.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

BLOODY MEASUREMENTS OF MURDERED MAN.

SOME ONE MAY HANG ON DOCTORS' STORIES.

Bullets Which Caused the Death of W. A. Yeager at Catalina Were Sawed Out of His Skull in This City Yesterday—Was not Shot from Behind as Supposed.

Bloody measurements, taken by the doctors yesterday, are depended upon to solve the mystery of the Catalina murder.

The head of the murdered Kentuckian, W. A. Yeager, was cut up yesterday at an autopsy held by Drs. Claire Murphy and Garrett. Upon the cold medical facts they unearthed, some one will probably be dragged to the gallows.

Boyd claims it will be Johnson, and Johnson claims it will be Boyd. These were the two who played in the poker game with Yeager which ended in the murder.

Johnson's story is that he "went broke" first, and started to leave the room, but was asked to stay and see the game out. He vows that he sat down in a corner to wait, and that when Boyd's money was also gone, the latter drew his revolver and shot Yeager. Johnson says Boyd dropped the gun, and he, Johnson, picked it up and gave it to the bartender.

Boyd, on the other hand, says that when his money was all gone he leaned back in his chair to light a cigarette; there was a flash and a loud report, and Yeager fell dead.

When the body was first found it seemed as though the man had been shot from behind and above. A bullet seemed to have entered the top of his head, and to have come out near one eye. Another bullet seemed to have just grazed his ear. It was as though the first shot had only glanced, and that he had been hit in the top of the head while trying to duck.

The autopsy measurements tell a different story.

Neither of the bullets glanced or grazed. Both went through his head with fatal aim. Both were fired from the front, as though the murderer had risen from his chair and fired across a table.

One bullet entered the head near the eye, and, plowing through the brain, lodged in the back of the head. The other went through the head, coming out back of the ear. The course of both bullets was nearly level, but, if anything, tending downward a very little.

Boyd has been brought over from Catalina, and lodged in the County Jail.

Although he says almost nothing of the murder—merely to say he is innocent—he shows every evidence of terrible distress of mind.

When Johnson bluntly accused him of murder in the hotel bar-room, after the shooting, Boyd exclaimed indignantly, "Do you say I shot him?" Since then he has been a clam for silence.

For his defense he has retained Attorneys Oscar Lawler and Earl Rogers.

The two came up to consult the District Attorney yesterday in regard to the preliminary examination of Boyd. It was set for Friday—a week from yesterday. It will take place at Avalon.

Boyd's lawyers claim that the autopsy disclosed facts favorable to Boyd. They aver that Yeager, the murdered Kentuckian, was a sure-thing gambler, who hung around tourist resorts and big hotels, and fleeced moneyed men by means of stacked decks.

The court gave judgment yesterday denying the application for an injunction.

IN THE INFERIOR COURTS.

HOW MISTAH RANDOLPH FISHED FOR SUCKERS.

BIG BUNCH OF SIDEWALK RIDERS CAUGHT IN HIS NET.

The Boys Thought it Wasn't Fair—E. Wells, Arrested for Fast Driving and Drunkenness, Gets Off With a "Salty" Fine.

Mistah Randolph, the colored policeman, did a great stunt on Thursday evening.

Down on East Seventh street, where the street-paving is going on, the street is barricaded, between Los Angeles and Wall streets, and cyclers have been using the sidewalk to skip around the obstruction.

There it was that Patrolman Randolph spread his net to catch the wheeled suckers, Thursday evening, and he made a good catch—eight of them being lined up in the Police Court yesterday.

The boys were somewhat indignant, because they said the officer entrapped them at a place where the street was impassable. Justice Austin sympathized a trifle with the prisoners, though he didn't say so, and imposed the minimum fine of $1 on each.

Yesterday at 12:30 o'clock, E. Wells was drunk; at 1:30, E. Wells was duly sober, as he stood before Justice Austin to plead to a charge of drunkenness. He drove a horse up Main street, at a frightful gait, about 12:30, refusing to stop when hailed by a policeman. The streets were full of people, and he turned down First street, lashing the horse in a brutal manner.

Wells was corraled later on, and booked on two charges—one for misdemeanor, and one for drunkenness. What kind of a plea he made with the officers to escape the former charge is not known, but no complaint was entered for misdemeanor. He was fined $10 on the drunk charge, to which was added some cutting remarks from the judge upon the serious nature of his offense.

A policeman testified that Wells was so drunk that he hung over the side of the buggy, but he showed no signs of it when he stood up and made a statement in his own behalf. He paid the $10, and looked very much crestfallen as he walked from the courtroom.

SENATOR M'MILLAN'S FUNERAL.

DETROIT (Mich.) Aug. 15.—Extreme simplicity marked the funeral services this afternoon over the late Senator James McMillan. Both branches of Congress, the State Legislature, and all departments of the State and city government were represented. Gov. Bliss was present with several of his staff. The Senatorial delegation included Senators Hanna and Foraker of Ohio, Allison of Iowa, Lodge of Massachusetts, Burrows of Michigan, Fairbanks of Indiana and Cockerell of Missouri. Rev. Alfred H. Barr, for a long time the Senator's pastor here, officiated at the services.

HOLDING UP THE BROKERS' TICKETS.

SCALPERS' tickets are causing the local railroads a deal of trouble at this season, owing to an abundance of Knights of Pythias tickets issued from all points in the United States at reduced rates.

"We are taking up lots of tickets," said E. W. McGee, city passenger and ticket agent of the Santa Fé, yesterday.

People of limited means are powerfully attracted by the "cut rates" offered by scalpers—and an intermittent conscience does the rest. Saving money—$10, $20 or $30—by means of some skillful falsifications, does not seem half wicked, particularly when you are just beating "the railroad."

Some people will want an extra harp for "doing the railroad."

Part of the contract that goes along with the purchase of a "scalped ticket" is a host of falsehoods. You get a new name; your hair may suddenly be a little off color, and many other of your personal characteristics will have changed, in all probability, unless you succeed in acquiring your double's ticket. Even then, however, it is very difficult to acquire your double's movements for days and days prior to presenting the ticket for use to the conductor, or for a berth.

The railroad companies are especially active at this time in investigating suspicious cases.

It is a pitiful thing to see an old lady turned down on a scalper's ticket—particularly after she has gone far enough with it to have told a multitude of designing lies.

"The scalpers are very clever," said Mr. McGee yesterday, "and the schemes they do not think of to bolster up a probable story are not worth while. They have all sorts of stationery for obvious purposes (how they get it is often a great mystery,) and they use it freely. It is no trick at all for the purchaser of a scalper's ticket to be bolstered up with numerous urgent letters from the East—letters written right here in Los Angeles.

"Sometimes this 'corroborating' literature that is sprung on us by the holder of a bad ticket must have taken the scalper two or three hours to concoct.

"The scalpers also conduct a sort of a school, with intending purchasers. They have a list of questions, often asked by the railroad officers whenever a question arises over tickets, and to these queries are printed answers designed to coach the fellow who would run the gauntlet."

"Of course, you confiscate these tickets when you get them, Mr. McGee?"

"Yes, sir."

"But, as a matter of fact, many scalpers' tickets are used successfully, are they not?"

"Of course, they escape us sometimes," was the reply.

The purchaser of a scalper's ticket, if he is frustrated in his plan to use it, has no easy time in getting his money back. When the scalper once gets his clutches on the hard cash he just can't let go—unless unusual pressure is brought to scare it out of him. So disheartened do many people become, after failing with a ticket, that they never bother the scalper again about the cash.

CROP OPTIMIST.

D. A. Parkyns, assistant general freight and passenger agent of the Southern Pacific, has just returned from a short trip through the fruit districts of Riverside and Redlands. He finds a very abundant dried-fruit crop in these sections, but the market at present is slow. Apricot drying is just ending, to give way to peaches, prunes and grapes.

"As to the coming orange crop," said Mr. Parkyns yesterday, "the prospect is excellent. If nothing happens, it will be better than last year, notwithstanding a lot of scare over 'dropping.' But just now the country out there certainly does look splendid."

RAILWAY MISCELLANY.

Erastus Young, general auditor of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, with headquarters in Omaha, is in Los Angeles. His private car is at the Arcade depot. It is understood that he is here for pleasure.

Malone Joyce, traveling passenger agent for the Colorado-Midland, arrived in the city yesterday, and made a bee line for Catalina, where he will stay for three or four days.

August 21 has been set as Knights of Pythias day around the Kite-shaped track.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen will enjoy an outing at Redondo today, over the Santa Fé. About 100 tickets will be sold.

Epes Randolph of the Pacific Electric Company is off in the mountains, up San Francisco way. He left no address at his Los Angeles headquarters when he took the Owl last Monday.

PRINCESS VIROQUA, M.D.

Practising Physician and Lecturer,

Sister of Oronyatekhar, Head of the Order of Forresters of the World,

Endorses Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound After Following Its Record For Years.

From time to time we have been publishing in the newspapers of this country our statements and claims of the superiority of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a remedy for all the ills peculiar to women, but it seldom happens that the proprietor of a valuable medicine is able to produce such unquestionable expert testimony as we are permitted to publish in this article.

It is unnecessary for us to devote much space by way of introduction of Dr. Viroqua, as both she and her family are of international fame. Her brother Oronyatekhar, was second in rank of the Good Templars of the world when John B. Finch was chief. Now at the head of the Independent Order of Forresters of the world, having headquarters at Toronto, Can. Princess Viroqua, the subject of our portrait, has been a practising physician and lecturer in the United States for the past twenty-five years; her standing in her profession and eloquence as a speaker is well known, especially throughout the West. She writes a letter to Mrs. Pinkham of interest to all women.

PRINCESS VIROQUA, M. D.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Health is the greatest boon bestowed on humanity and therefore anything that can restore lost health is a blessing. I consider Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as a blessing to State and Nation. It cures her mothers and daughters and makes them well and strong.

"For fifteen years I have noted the effect of your Vegetable Compound in curing special diseases of women.

"I know of nothing superior for ovarian trouble, barrenness, and it has prevented hundreds of dangerous operations where physicians claimed it was the only chance to get well. Ulceration and inflammation of the womb has been cured in two or three weeks through its use, and as I find it purely an herbal remedy, I unhesitatingly give it my highest endorsement.—Fraternally yours, DR. P. VIROQUA, Lansing, Mich."

After a thorough consideration of such a testimonial as this we are perfectly sure that the women of America will consider that we are amply justified in making our strong claims for the superiority of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Every one, of course, knows that Dr. Viroqua would not allow such a statement to be made over her signature unless it was absolutely true, and that her faith in the remedy must be great or she would not allow her portrait to be published in connection with her recommendation.

If you are ill do not hesitate to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, and write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. for special advice; it is entirely free.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

TAMALE VENDER'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

YSMAEL GROUND TO DEATH UNDER RAILWAY TRAIN.

Uncertain Whether it Was Accident or Suicidal—Coroner's Jury Adjourned Until Ten O'clock This Morning to Secure Witnesses.

Ysmael Durazo, a tamale dealer, living at No. 326 Wilmington street, met a horrible death yesterday morning on Alameda street near Marchessault. Durazo was standing on the sidewalk, talking to a couple of other persons, when a yard engine of the Southern Pacific company came along pulling several empty passenger coaches. Durazo said to his companions, speaking in Spanish: "I am going now."

As he said this he ran toward the moving train, and that is almost the sum total of what his companions know about his movements or his motive, for the next instant the lower portion of his body, from the breast to his feet, was ground into a shapeless mass under the train. His head and shoulders were not mutilated.

There is a difference of opinion concerning the motive of Durazo, some arguing the suicide theory and others declaring that it was apparent that he simply meant to jump on the moving train, and missed his hold. Opposed to this is the fact that Durazo was crippled from rheumatism, and moved with more or less difficulty, and it would seem an utterly foolish and unexplainable thing for him to undertake.

The inquest was set for 4 o'clock yesterday, at Garrett's undertaking parlors, but because of the absence of witnesses was postponed until this morning at 10 o'clock.

ELEVATOR FELL.

Three Laborers Made Swift Descent from Fifth Story of Broadway Building Yesterday—One Slightly Injured.

Three laborers came crashing down in a construction elevator from the fifth story of the Grant building in process of erection at Broadway and Fourth streets, yesterday noon, and not one of them was seriously injured. One of them, Joe Polasa, who lives on Winston street, near the Federal building, was dragged from the dust and splinters with a badly bruised leg, but no bones broken. The other two walked off limping slightly. The elevator fell from a height of about sixty-five feet.

The three men had just stopped work and were going to descend from their places on the top story to eat lunch. They stepped on the elevator without giving the signal, and it happened that the brake was not set. The elevator on the other side was at the bottom empty. The weight of the men gave them a ride to the bottom that lasted only an instant. There was such a terrific crash and flying of splinters and brick dust that bystanders thought the three of them were surely killed. The patrol wagon conveyed Polasa to his home, and the other two men returned to work in the afternoon.

SCORES JUDGE CARON.

MONTREAL (Que.) Aug. 15.—Donald McMasters, leading counsel for the United States, today gave out a statement in reference to Judge Caron's judgment in the Gaynor-Greene case. "In my opinion," he said, "the judgment is bad, and the reasons in support of it worse. The judgment is, in effect, a snap judgment without an opportunity for counsel being heard upon the whole case."

OPERAHOUSE BURNED.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 15.—Shortly after noon today Pike's Operahouse was discovered on fire. At the time the delegates of the convention of the International Typographical Union were leaving the auditorium, but all escaped without any trouble. The fire started in the sub-cellar, where a boy was smoking cigarettes. The fire spread rapidly, but it was controlled in less than an hour. The loss aggregated $75,000, distributed among many tenants.

THE DAY OF RECKONING.

"Push" Confesses Its Disappointment.

Anti-Gage Men Pleased With the Figures.

Was Democratic Support Gave Gage Half of His Home County.

The anti-Gage tide is rising every day. People who were doubters at first are now convinced of its volume. Among those are the managers of the Governor's campaign, who freely admit that they are disappointed at the result in Los Angeles county.

The Times from the first has made conservative estimates of the successes of the anti-Gage movement. On the morning after the primaries in this county The Times printed in its head-lines and after that Gage had carried only half his home county. The delegates have all been counted and the Gage managers claim only 55 per cent. of them. The Flint managers claim that Gage will get less than 55 per cent. "Half of them" is just about right.

On the morning of the Assembly district conventions The Times stated that the anti-Gage people would surely carry three of them and two were in doubt. The outcome proved the correctness of this prophecy.

All the estimates of The Times with regard to the result of the campaign have been made with similar conservatism and fidelity to facts. The Times gives the news every day in the week. The News points irresistibly to the defeat of Gage. The estimate of the San Francisco Chronicle is that there will be 56) against him on the first ballot. It is admitted by the Gage shouters that he will receive fewer votes from San Francisco than the number credited to him. All the currents of the great events are against him.

Gage leaders spent yesterday conferring with the returns on State matters from the various Assembly districts of Los Angeles county, trying to figure something besides an almost total division of the Governor's delegates. No facts could be changed, and the most conservative of the Gage managers conceded that, in their efforts, Flint had come far short into the Governor's own district and divided the honors. Sixty-five per cent. of the county delegates against Gage and 55 per cent. for him!

This was the result of many weeks of campaigning on the part of the "push," during which time every Gage machine worker in the State visited the county; every office-holder was impressed into service, and all the accounts of money were spent that would do the most good. The Governor himself had charge of affairs of State at Sacramento, Dan. Kevane in charge, and Flint headquarters in the "new capitol" at the Hollenbeck. Gage spent his time in making appeals to voters, from the top rank to the lowest, and he had resorted to every artifice to overcome the oppositon of the people. They had threatened and coaxed, promised to bestow or withhold patronage, and had held the club of persecution over the heads of those whom they thought were in power; and by ways that were dark, tricks that were vain, they had wavered to carry out their purposes.

The most colossal of all the political frauds practiced was that of the Democrats and other non-Republicans at the primaries. The result of all their labors was that Gage had succeeded in obtaining a bare majority of the delegates from his home county!

It was a sad day of reckoning for "push."

Dealing with the figures as they stood there was but one answer—Gage, 43; Gage, 53 and so on. But the members of the gang said it was not so, with an air of confidence that the figures lied. He maintained that he would have seventy of the delegates from Los Angeles county!

"MORE THAN ONE BALLOT!

"Push" will not come till the second ballot is cast in the convention," declared a brand-new admission from "push."

Before they have claimed that Gage would be nominated on the first ballot, and they have made a show of confidence to substantiate their claim.

With the breaking of a new light they come to the conclusion that it will be more than one ballot. They base their admissions of losing strength in other ways. They were compelled to recede from their original position, a "solid delegation from Los Angeles," dropping back from 100 per cent. then to 75 per cent., and they have been compelled to admit that it, of course, but a trifle more than they had claimed. The situation is studied more closely by the people of the State, it is believed that Gage and the gang

THE DAY OF RECKONING.

"Push" Confesses Its Disappointment.

Anti-Gage Men Pleased With the Figures.

Was Democratic Support Give Gage Half of His Home County.

The anti-Gage tide is rising today. People who were doubters at first are now converts of the volume. Among these are the managers of the Governor's campaign, who freely admit that they are disappointed at the result in Los Angeles county.

The Times from the first has made conservative estimates of the successes of the anti-Gage movement. On the morning after the primaries in this county The Times stated in its head-lines and editorially that Gage had carried only half his home county. The delegates have all been elected, and the Gage managers claim only 35 per cent. of them. The Flint managers claim that Gage will get less than 35 per cent. "Half of home" is just about right.

In the morning of the Assembly district conventions The Times stated that the anti-Gage people would surely capture three of them and two were in doubt. The outcome proved the correctness of the prophecy.

All the estimates of The Times with regard to the result of the campaign have been made with similar conservatism and fidelity to facts. The Times gives the news every day in the week. The news points irresistibly to the defeat of Gage. The estimate of the San Francisco Chronicle that there will be 56 votes against him on the first ballot is admitted by the Gageites that he will have fewer votes from San Diego than the number credited to him. The currents of the great cities are against him.

Gage leaders spent yesterday busily with the returns on State tickets from the various Assembly districts of Los Angeles county, trying to find something besides an anti-Gage division of the Governor's vote. The facts could not be changed, and the most conservative of Gage managers conceded that, despite their efforts, Flint had come out into the Governor's own county and divided the honors. Only 35 per cent. of the county delegates against Gage and 55 per cent. for him!

What is the result of many weeks of campaigning on the part of Governor Gage, during which time every political machine worker in the State and in this county; every office-holder impressed into service, and thousands of money were spent that would do the most good, the Governor himself had abandoned the affairs of State at Sacramento, left Lieut.-Gov. Kevane in charge, and established headquarters in the "new Capitol" at the Hollenbeck, where he spent his time in making personal appeals to voters, from the highest to the lowest, and finally had resorted to every artifice to overcome the opposition of the anti-Gage people. They had threatened and coaxed, promised to bestow or withhold patronage, and had held the spectre of persecution over the heads of those whom they thought were weaker; and by ways that were dark and tricks that were vain, they had endeavored to carry out their will.

The most colossal of all the political frauds practised was that of the Democrats and other non-Republicans at the primaries.

What is the result of all their labors and plots? Gage had succeeded in obtaining a majority of the delegates from his home county!

Well, it is a sad day of reckoning for Gage.

Let us deal with the figures as they are. There was but one answer—and that is, Gage, 53.

Then the members of the gang said to each other, with an air of confidence, "Wait for the figures Hed. He maintained that Gage would have seventy of the delegates from Los Angeles county!

"NOT MORE THAN ONE BALLOT!

"Flint will not come till the second ballot is cast in the convention."

Then there was a brand-new admission from the "push."

"Before they have claimed that Gage would be nominated on the first ballot, and they have made a show of trying to substantiate their claim.

"But the breaking of a new light has come to the conclusion that Gage will be more than one ballot, and concessions of losing delegates have come from the "push" and other ways. They were compelled to recede from their original claim of a delegation from Los Angeles county, dropping back from 100 per cent. to 75 per cent., and then to 55 per cent., and were compelled to admit that Gage would have more than a trifle more than half of the delegation.

"The situation is studied more and more by the people of the State, it is found that Gage and the gang will be forced farther and farther away from the goal of their ambition. They are losing ground every day.

DEMOCRATS, AD LIB.

Indisputable evidence was had at the primaries in Los Angeles Tuesday that Gage's strength came from the Democrats. Neither the Democrats nor the "push" deny this, and it would do them no good if they did, as the returns prove it beyond a doubt.

Preliminary canvasses of Republican voters in different precincts gave the Flint managers a fairly accurate estimate of the support they might expect at the primaries. In one precinct it was found there were absolutely no Gage supporters. When the votes were counted the precinct stood 2 to 1 for Flint.

Where did the Gage votes come from? Democrats!

In a Seventh Ward precinct that gave Bryan a large majority at the last Presidential election, an equally large majority was given for Gage this year.

Who were the voters?

Democrats!

Two-thirds of the normal Republican primary vote of the city was cast for Flint delegates to the State convention. The vote for Gage was more than sufficient to overcome this Republican support in all but two city precincts.

Whence did it come?

Democrats!

More than half of the total normal Republican vote of the Seventy-fifth Assembly District was cast for Flint, yet Gage secured the delegation from that district.

Who gave it to him?

Democrats!

The Governor must have recognized the critical situation when he found it necessary in his own county to impress Democrats into his ranks, and to obtain the nominal support of his neighbors by resorting to this form of political trickery.

It is interesting to note in connection with the returns from the primary election that The Times Wednesday morning gave Gage just one-half of the delegation from his home county.

That this claim was practically correct is borne out by the final returns, which show that the Governor obtained but 55 per cent. of the delegation, while it is claimed with assurance by the Flint managers that a canvass of the delegation on the day of the convention will show an even division for and against Gage.

In contradistinction to the report of The Times, the Herald made the claim Wednesday that Gage had made practically a "clean sweep" of the county, and that it was the only paper to publish the "news."

"Unbiased" estimates in another paper were equally wide of the mark.

RETURNS CANVASSED.

NO CHANGE IN FIRST FIGURES.

A canvass of the election returns from the precincts in Los Angeles and Pasadena was made yesterday by the Board of Supervisors, who acted as election commissioners. The result was the same as announced in The Times Wednesday morning, no change being made in the lists of delegates to the county and State conventions. Certificates of election accordingly were issued for these delegates, of whom there are sixty-two to the State convention, and 491 to the county convention.

Certificates for State delegates will be delivered by special messenger this morning to the delegates who attend the Congressional convention at Pasadena, and the certificates for county convention delegates will be sent through the mail today.

As Los Angeles and Pasadena are the only cities in which the primary election law applies, the election commissioners paid no attention to the returns from the country precincts. Certificates for delegates to both conventions from outside precincts will be issued by Secretary McGarvin of the Republican County Central Committee, and will be delivered in the same manner as are those of delegates elected under the primary election law.

Political Briefs.

Pressure of private and political affairs prevented Gov. Gage from leaving yesterday for Sacramento to perform his duties as Chief Executive of the State, which, in the absence of Acting Governor Dan Kevane, have been going at sixes and sevens for some time past. "Business" at the "new State Capitol" in the Hollenbeck also was sadly neglected yesterday, as Gage found it necessary to make a journey to San Pedro for the purpose of indulging himself in a few more libel suits against newspaper publishers. The office boy and Private Secretary Foley were in charge at headquarters most of the day, and there was an utter lack of the activity of the "push," who erstwhile lined the sidewalk in front of the hotel and the adjacent bar.

Senator R. N. Bulla left last evening for San Francisco, where he will confer with Senator Thomas Flint, Jr.

A. G. Kendall of San Bernardino was in Los Angeles yesterday. He is a candidate for member of the Board of Equalization from the Fourth District, to succeed T. O. Toland of Ventura. It has been claimed by the "push" that Mr. Kendall has the San Bernardino county delegation of sixteen for trading purposes and that he might throw his strength to Gage, but as the counties that comprise the equalization district are nearly two to one against the renomination of the Governor, it is asserted that there will be no opportunity for a trade, even were Mr. Kendall clothed with the authority and possessed of a desire to effect such a combination.

Los Angeles county delegates to the State convention will meet this morning at Pasadena to attend the Seventh District Congressional Convention, which will open at 10:30 o'clock at Woodmen's Hall, on West Colorado street. A member of Congress will be nominated, the customary resolutions will be passed, and a new Congressional Committee will be appointed.

TARTE WANTS PROTECTION.

HALIFAX (N. S.) Aug. 15.—Hon. J. I. Tarte, Canadian Minister of Public Works, in a speech before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, declared that Canada must no longer see her markets slaughtered by American manufacturers, and the great trade of the continent carried through American channels. The remedy, he proposed was the improvement of the Canadian waterways and a higher tariff. He said that Canada would soon have a fast Atlantic line, and declared that Halifax in winter and Quebec in summer were the natural terminals.

WINDMILLS BUZZ ON OIL DERRICK.

A DERRICK in the west end of the local oil field, surmounted by two large windmills, is an object at which many curious eyes have gazed since the fly-wheels began to fan the air in that corner of the territory.

Windmills in their proper place excite no comment, but on the top of a sixty-foot oil derrick they assume a position of importance.

"What are they there for?" is a question a Traction conductor can see coming, as soon as his car leaves Seventh street. He doesn't know the answer, but makes a guess that they have been put there to pump oil, and with some the explanation is acceptable.

The more curious have worn a path from the car line to the P. & B. plant, where the freak derrick is located, and there they find all they have been looking for. The operators at this plant are not "natural-born" joshers, but since the advent of the windmills they have cultivated a knack of "stuffing" unsuspecting tenderfoot that has become perfect with practice.

Sightseers are informed that the mills are used in forcing hot air underground, which, in turn, forces the oil to the surface; that the plant is the only one of its kind in the world, but that as soon as patents have been secured, they will be put to work in every field in the country. When doubt is expressed as to the merits of the system, the inventor is produced, who apparently takes great pleasure in going into the most elaborate details.

OIL DERRICK-WINDMILL COMBINATION.

The presence of the mills, however, is as much a matter of mystery to the operators in the field, as to the curious visitor. A few weeks ago permission was given by the owners of the derrick, which stands over an abandoned well, to erect the mills that now grace the structure.

Permission was given to Henry T. Hazard, who knows why they are there, and won't tell. Mr. Hazard, who returned from Washington yesterday, where he has been for the past two weeks, in the interest of certain patents, declined to discuss the derrick windmill last evening, but declared that they were put there for a purpose, that would soon be made known.

They are believed to be part of a patent machine for generating compressed air.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.

Frank Wells, a machinist, in collaboration with another workman, has invented a device for refining crude oil. A dispatch from Columbia says the Standard Oil Company has offered $1,000,000 for the invention, but the offer has been declined. It is said a proposition from a New York syndicate, increasing the amount more than one half, is under consideration.

The new system comprises a series of retorts, in which the oil is placed and subjected to a high degree of heat. It is said to make the refined oil of very fine quality, and suitable for all commercial purposes. The system also prevents wastage of valuable material, which heretofore has been lost in the process of refining.

WELLS FOR DEVIL'S DEN.

The Spreckels, who are largely interested in the Devil's Den district, have decided to drill more wells, a total of seven or eight. Teams are now engaged in hauling lumber, machinery and other supplies to the location. A thorough test of the territory will be made, in order that its true value may be determined.

Conspiracy of the defendants to refuse recognition of these proxies is alleged. The case was set for hearing tomorrow.

SUSPICION

Leads to the Real Cause.

The question of coffee disease or Postum health becomes of the greatest importance when we are thrown on our own resources. Many a woman when suddenly left without means of support can make a comfortable living if health remains.

A brave little woman out in Barnes, Kan., says, "I feel that I owe you a letter for the good Postum Coffee has done me. For years I was a great sufferer with nervousness without ever suspecting the cause. Two years ago I came down with nervous prostation. My work was light, but I could not do it, I could not even sew or read.

"My sleep was broken and unrefreshing; I suffered intensely and it seemed only a matter of time till I must lose my reason.

"My mental distress was as great as my physical, when one day a friend brought me a trial of Postum Coffee and urged me to use it instead of coffee for a few days, saying that Postum had cured her of liver trouble and sick headaches. I replied that I thought I could not give up coffee, I had always used it as a stimulant, however, the Postum Food Coffee proved to be pleasing to the taste and I used it and was surprised to see that I was resting and getting better.

"My husband bought several packages and insisted on me using it altogether. Gradually, but not the less surely, I fully recovered. I never used coffee afterward and when I was left a widow a year later I was able to open a dressmaking shop and support myself and little girls." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Played With the Buzz Saw.

George Mears, a miner recently from Arizona, who lives at No. 227 East Twenty-fourth street, had his curiosity gratified yesterday morning regarding buzz saws. He dropped into a planing mill on South Main street and became so fascinated with the evolutions of a circular saw that he reached out his left hand and touched it. Two of his fingers were almost torn off. He was treated for the injury at the Receiving Hospital.

R. E. Miller Home Again.

R. E. Miller, secretary of the Owl Drug Company, returned yesterday from his trip around the world. He registered at the Van Nuys from Paris, France, where he has spent most of the past few weeks. Mr. Miller is one of the best-known business and club men in the city, and he will be kept busy for several moons fulfilling the engagements mapped out for him by his friends to tell the story of his extensive travels.

Camera Club's Carnival.

A pretty entertainment, fashioned after a Venetian water carnival, was participated in last night by the members of the Los Angeles Camera Club and their friends at Westlake Park. Rowboats were decorated with gay Japanese lanterns, and the bright flotilla flecked the somber, placid bosom of the lake with twinkles of color. The landing near the farther end of the miniature sea was brightly illuminated by the same fanciful tapers, and refreshments were served there late in the evening. Still later couples strayed off into the moon-lit paths of the park, as couples will.

Notes from the Chamber.

The Chamber of Commerce is hankering for a 125-pound watermelon, just to prove that such things exist in Southern California. If somebody possesses a morsel of this kind and description, it will be deemed a great favor if he will surrender it to the chamber. The directors' room has been thrown open again for the entertainment of the Knights of Pythias, who are expected to return this way within a few days. Preparation is also being made to entertain the visiting Elks who are to arrive here from Salt Lake City. Those wishing to participate in the Chamber of Commerce excursion to Oxnard, arranged for this month, should make requests for tickets immediately. The fare will be $2.75.

TALMADGE HAS GONE.

Former Owner of the Monarch Bowling Alleys is Said to Have Left With a Woman Not His Wife.

If the score sheet is correct, James C. Talmadge, erstwhile proprietor of the Monarch bowling alleys, has struck out for parts unknown, leaving his wife behind.

It is said that he left this city on Tuesday evening of last week on the Owl for the North, and it is presumed that he and a charmer went to San Francisco. In any event, it is reported on good authority that they went somewhere.

Talmadge was identified with the Monarch alleys for many months, and while he made money, he apparently did not make enough for he run in debt on account of the property. The people who advanced the money finally got tired of standing for this, and shut down on Talmadge. He was never hurt until then, and rumor says that he at once perfected his plans for leaving town.

Unlike a good husband, he neglected to take his wife with him, but instead, bought a ticket that another lady used. His wife, who is with friends in this city, is not losing any sleep over his departure, and instead of weeping bitter, burning tears, is about to file a suit for divorce from him on the grounds of desertion or adultery, or probably both.

Meanwhile Talmadge is missing from his usual haunts.

TRAIL OF MURDERER IS FOUND AT LAST.

OUTLAW M'KINNEY HEADED FOR RANDSBURG REGION.

Seen in the Mountains Northeast of Bakersfield and Officers Supposed to Be Hot on His Track—Stayed With Friend.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BAKERSFIELD, Aug. 15.—From a perfectly authentic source it is learned today that Jim McKinney, the fugitive outlaw, is in the mountains northeast of this city, probably heading for the Randsburg gold region. Last Monday evening he stopped at the house of a hotel keeper and cattle raiser named Dunlap, had supper, and was given a bed. Dunlap is an old acquaintance of McKinney, and as the information comes from Glennville and almost directly from Dunlap himself, there can be no doubt of its reliability. Calvin Dunlap is one of the oldest residents of that part of Kern county, and is known by the name of "Bud." He lives in the little settlement of Glennville, forty miles a little east of north of Bakersfield, and is well thought of in the community. His place is four miles south of the northern boundary of Kern county and thirty miles from Porterville, where McKinney committed the murder. Traveling from Porterville to Glennville would be a direct line to the Randsburg district, and from this fact the deduction is made that the fugitive intends to lose himself in that wild region if possible.

When McKinney arrived at Dunlap's place he wanted to be informed minutely concerning distances, trails and other matters, but Dunlap declined to talk with him on those subjects, explaining that he did not propose to gain any knowledge whatever as to the fugitive's movements after he left the house, and besides he insisted that his guest get away as soon as possible, for he did not want a Tracy battle on his place.

McKinney lay down to sleep, but in the early morning when Dunlap came to waken him the hunted man was not to be found. He had quietly slipped away in the night.

It is known that both Kern and Tulare county officers have known of the fugitive's presence at Glennville for some days, and are now doubtless hot on his track.

McKinney looked to be in good physical condition when seen at Dunlap's, and fit to make the trip over the rough mountain trails of that vicinity.

NEWEST "SHORT LINE."

Another Lively Meeting Held Last Night to Advance Proposed Road to Pasadena Via Tropico.

After a wait of over seven years for the franchise holders to fulfill their contract and electrize the Echo Park road horse-car line from their main line, on Sunset boulevard, through the Scott tract, the people of the Elysian Hills district have at last awakened to the fact that they might do something themselves.

And they have made a good start. Public meetings have been held, and their rights discussed, committees of investigation have been appointed and legal advice secured, and now comes results.

Ties and steel rails have been brought to the horse-car line by the Sherman-Clark company, and it is quite probable that within ninety days one can ride from the center of the city to the city limits north of the Scott tract on a first-class electric car.

The Elysian Hills citizens were advised that the electric railway company was liable for damages and forfeiture of their franchise through their neglect to fulfill the contract, and yesterday, through Attorney E. Edgar Galbreath, their final proposition was presented to the electric company.

It requires the fulfillment of the contract of 1895, electrizing, equipping and operating the present road with a fifteen-minute service from 6 a.m. to 12 p.m., the running of first-class cars with open and inclosed compartments, and the giving of transfers to other lines of the company. The road must be extended to the north line of lot 6, block 43, of Hancock's Survey, thus bringing it within a few rods of the city limits. All this must be accomplished within ninety days of the date of the instrument presented.

The Clark-Sherman people within the past few days have rushed out ties, rails and kegs of bolts, ready for active work. Mr. Clark stated that work would begin within four days.

But the electrizing of the present mile and a half of road will not satisfy the Elysian Hills people now. They have become awakened to the possibilities of a new short line to Pasadena, by way of Tropico, Glendale and Eagle Rock, and are working hard for it.

The meeting last night in the Scott-avenue chapel was well attended, and delegations were present from Tropico, Glendale and Eagle Rock, who pledged their communities to the aid of the project by donations of rights of way and other substantial assistance.

Address were made by M. J. Hixon and E. W. Richardson of Eagle Rock, B. H. Imler and M. C. Burch of Tropico, and several local speakers, setting forth the advantages and inducements of the proposed route.

It is stated that Clark and Sherman have given assurances that they will build their line, using the old horse-car line as the city end of the route.

Another meeting will be held in the Scott-avenue chapel next Friday night to receive further reports of committees. The members of the improvement associations of Tropico and Glendale will be present at this meeting.

FARMERS will be especially interested in our correspondent's description of the great Canadian wheat belt, its management and its profits, in the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

AN article on the Isthmus of Panama, its people, and the condition of the abandoned canal, will be a special feature of the Sunday Times Magazine of August 17.

CHARTER REVISION.

Report of Committee on Fire Department Considered Last Night—Office of Fire Marshal Created.

At the meeting of the Charrter Revision Committee last night the report of the sub-Committee on Fire Department was the subject for discussion.

Consideration of this report was not completed last night, so that when it is again taken up at the next meeting, the part already gone over may be subjected to as many changes as may have occurred to the minds of the several members of the committee. As a consequence the work done last night cannot be considered conclusive.

There was no acrimonious debate, though there was considerable discussion, with Committeeman Scott on one side and everybody else on the other and of course, the minority made a rule of gracefully capitulating.

The lengthiest argument was upon the clause in the report which forbade the Fire Commission to "transfer, dismiss or disrate a fireman except for cause, and after trial." This was amended by cutting out the word "transfer," so that the board may, as at present, transfer men from one company to another for the good of the service, if their judgment dictates such action.

A fire marshal is provided for, to be appointed upon the recommendation of the insurance interests of the city, but in no event is the city to pay the salary of such officer, or be responsible therefor. He shall have the powers of a police officer, and his special duties will be to take charge of and protect property which may be imperiled by a fire, and he is empowered to call to his aid policemen to assist in his duties during a conflagration. He is also charged with the enforcement of laws and ordinances relative to the storage and sale of oils, combustible materials and explosives, to report upon the cause of fires, and to bring actions in the case of the discovery of criminality.

At the next meeting of the Revision Committee the same report will be taken up at the section providing for a fireman's relief and pension fund.

TROLLEY WAR BROKE LOOSE.

Huntington Tried to Steal a March.

Night Raid on Sleeping Vermont Avenue.

Hooks Woke Up and Two Gangs Worked All Night Setting Rival Poles.

After several months of armed peace between the Hook and Huntington corporations, slumbering rivalry has at last awoke in wire-pulling, hammer-clattering war.

This time the battleground is that stretch of Vermont avenue lying between Twenty-fourth street and Santa Monica avenue, and the conflict blazed suddenly forth in electric fury Thursday night.

The Huntington people attempted to steal a march, and capture the avenue, shutting out the Traction poles, but the Traction managers were warned, and the pole and wire race was soon on in earnest.

Both parties are sticking the east side of the street full of long, unsightly poles, and both are fully confident of their right to permanently maintain the same in their places.

These gawky sticks are necessarily very long, as they are intended for the transmission of power at the enormous tension of 25,000 volts. It is very apparent that only one line can hold the street for any length of time. Electricians say that two such lines, uninsulated, cannot work anywhere near each other. The other side of the street is held by the Pacific States Telephone Company, also with high poles, and a multitude of wires, and to operate there would be out of the question.

Action seems to foreshadow intention in this case, and by this move Mr. Huntington's plans for work in the southern end of the county are laid bare. It is patent that the sudden move of Thursday night was intended to freeze out, or at least checkmate and annoy, the California Pacific Railway Company on its steadily-progressing work toward San Pedro and the sea. Their line has been under construction for more than a year, and a single track has been built to within a mile and a half of the beach town.

A few more weeks of unhindered labor would have seen open service to the ocean on the only beach electric line not under the control of Mr. Huntington. This is a move that the magnate would not like to see consummated, in all probability, and friends of the Traction line, which is one and the same with the California Pacific corporation, have been looking for some sudden outbreak of strategy on the part of the spectacular rival for a long time.

Apparently the ground for action lies in the electrizing of the little steam narrow-gauge to Redondo, and the plans of work here have given the Pacific Electric people a possible chance to outgeneral the Hook faction, get ahead of them, and work in first at San Pedro.

THE DARK-HORSE POWER.

It is believed that the San Gabriel Electric Company will have the contract for supplying power to the transformed Redondo line, and as it is a corporation in the general business of supplying light and power, and is recognized as such, its managers have the right to erect in the city such lines as their contracts call for. No franchise has ever been given, so far as is known at the City Hall, for the Huntington lines to fix street-railway property of any sort upon that part of Vermont avenue, and the San Gabriel company has in all probability been used as a dark horse to stop or hinder the progress of the Hooks.

It seems that the work is done in the name of this concern, and from the extraordinary measures taken it is surmised that possession is nine points of the law, and that the first men in will stay in, unless driven out by long legal contest.

At 5 o'clock last evening the Traction company quit work for the night, and had at that time on the new poles a power current of 500 volts, directly attached to the power-house, and actually doing service feeding the motors of the University line of city cars. At the same time the Huntington forces gave out their intention of working on through the night, but had as their only service line a little insulated telephone wire, connected up with the central office, and probably in working order. This line was not connected to the insulators, in many cases, but was simply laid along the tops of the cross bars. Whether they intended this as a huge bluff at installed service is not known, but at any rate it was there, and they have made desperate haste to get it up.

Both sides are sawing a great deal of wood, but will say practically nothing. President Hook of the Traction company said last evening: "We are putting in poles for the use of the California Pacific company and the Traction company jointly. We know nothing of any other franchises, but assume that we have the right to work, and that no other company has the right to interfere."

Frank Thomas, attorney for the Traction road, called it all a bluff on the part of their rivals, and said that his people would go right along as if nothing had happened. Manager Epes Randolph of the other corporation was out of town yesterday, and his office men professed entire ignorance of the whole matter.

Some days ago the Hooks began digging post holes, preparatory to changing their short poles for the long ones. The others evidently got wind of this, and Thursday afternoon began setting their line north on Vermont from University Station, and incidentally filling up such beginning as had been made by the first on the ground.

Their industrious toil progressed undisturbed for some hours, and it was not until evening that the Traction people scented the rat.

THE DANGER SIGNAL.

Then the danger signal was at once sounded, and all hands were summoned for the fray. Their available force was much smaller than that of their opponents, but nothing daunted, they began at Twenty-fourth street and Vermont avenue, and began to work south.

The men of their party had been at work all day long on the San Pedro branch, and were consequently very tired. Help had to be mustered from the ranks of the car men, and as soon as a car turned into the barn for the night its crew donned jumpers and sallied forth to the scene of conflict. At 1 o'clock, when all the cars were in, the whole night force was put to the unaccustomed work of line raising, and extra cars were sent out to stand and supply light.

By 1:30 o'clock more than two hundred men were busy on that stretch of street, and the gangs were rapidly approaching each other. There were plenty of chances for a good scrap when they once got together, but all went peacefully, and each division worked on as if the other were tucked away in bed and sleeping.

Many blunders occurred in the darkness, and more than once angry foremen called down deluded unfortunates stringing Hook wire on Huntington poles, and vice-versa.

When morning came both gangs were still hard at it, and continued so throughout the day, with the exception of the Traction car men, who quit at 6 o'clock. Many who went out early Thursday morning stayed with it until 5 last night, working constantly, and with only meager intervals allowed for abbreviated lunches. Two of the regular Traction car crew, who felt too sleepy to work after bringing their cars back to the barn Thursday night, received their back pay and permission for an unlimited vacation on returning to work yesterday.

Notwithstanding the fact that the San Gabriel company is supposed to be responsible for the job, not a man of their regular force was at work there, according to the testimony of a workman who knows most of their linemen well. For some reason or other the pole derrick used by the Huntington crew was said to belong to the Los Angeles Lighting Company, a rather mystifying circumstance, as officials have of late made strenuous denials of any affiliation with the Huntingtons.

Four of the linemen employed by the latter company seemed very much surprised on being told that the San Gabriel people were in any way connected with the operations, and said they supposed it was being done solely by the street railroad.

RESIDENTS OBJECT.

Bitter feeling is expressed by residents of the section that an already pole-cursed street should be again so vexed. At Adams, Vermont avenue abuts the most fashionable residence section of the city, and on its northeast corner, just across from the magnificent home of W. S. Hook, the Traction's president, a space of twelve feet holds seven poles, all of different shapes, sizes, heights and colors, and each askewed at a different angle to the perpendicular.

Another and more serious objection to the biggest and latest of these blots on a fair highway is the element of danger that will come with the onset of wet weather. The jumping proclivities of high-tension currents have lately been painfully illustrated to the Los Angeles public, and the vicinity of one of these veritable lightning-rods in a storm will be very unhealthy.

Councilmen Bowen, who lives in that section, conferred yesterday, with the City Attorney on the possibility of drafting an ordinance to prevent the further inroads of these menaces to the city's life. It may be that in some musty and forbidding tome the remedy will yet be found, already enacted.

BOWLER LEE GRAFF WINS MORE MATCHES.

DEFEATED KOLLER AND BINFORD WITH GREAT EASE.

Pugilistic Events at Standstill on Account of New Club Rumors—Monarch Bowling Alleys Change Owners—Ball Game Today.

Lee Graff, the eastern bowler, kept up his winning streak yesterday by easily beating two opponents on different alleys.

In the afternoon at the Monarch alleys he beat A. J. Benfer in seven games, and last night at the Coliseum alleys he got away with Frank Koller in three games. Both matches were friendly ones, and each drew a good gallery of spectators.

The games with Benfer were as follows:

	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	7.
Graff	204	188	155	193	205	183	196—188 6-7
Benfer	151	175	143	181	186	191	145—171 1-7

The games last night resulted as follows:

	1.	2.	3.
Graff	209	201	174—194	2-3
Koller	161	194	169—171	1-3

PUGILISM.

NOTHING SURE ON.

There is little doing in fighting circles at present, and from present appearances there is not much chance for anything good for several months. The new athletic club, which has been privately talked of up and down the promenade for several weeks, may or may not be a good move, but it will at least tend to complicate things in a pugilistic way.

The "New" club, in which are Harry Stewart, Dolph Ramish of the Orpheum several others, has been dickering for a week or more for a lease of Hazard's pavilion, but it is understood that $500 per year is asked. This is a sort of a facer for a new thing to go against, and a halt has been called.

Manager McCarey of the Century Club has several good cards in view, but he has been holding himself in on account of the efforts of the new club to get the pavilion. Meanwhile he is quietly making arrangements in a way for another place for prize fights, and it will be just as good as the pavilion.

MONARCH ALLEYS.

CHANGE OF OWNERSHIP.

The Monarch bowling alleys, on Hill street near Fourth street, which is the best known of the up-town alleys, has passed into the control of F. R. Kellogg and H. J. Woollacott, both well-known business men of this city, the transfer taking place this week. James C. Talmadge, who formerly conducted the place, has gone north to remain permanently.

For the present at least, the alleys will remain under the management of L. E. Heyer, who has been in charge for some months. Although the alleys and appointments are as complete as any in the city, it is more than probable that some improvements will be made in several ways.

Coursing.

The taking down of the old fence surrounding the coursing park on South Santa Fé avenue is about completed. It is being hauled to the site of the new park south of the city. It is expected that the sport will be resumed at the new place in about two weeks.

Minor Baseball.

The team of the Los Angeles Furniture Company will play the Niles Pease Club this afternoon at Fiesta Park, beginning at 2:15 o'clock. The line-up will be as follows:

Allison	catcher	Riggins
F. Civille	first base	Pinkham
Lay	second base	Dixon
Trussel	third base	Pease

LASHES FOR BOY BURGLARS.

WEST SUPERIOR (Wis.) Aug. 15.—"Twenty-one lashes across" is the sentence that was imposed by Judge Bailey in the Municipal Court upon twin boys, 13 years of age, who were before him on the charge of burglary. The boys were Robert and John Scott, sons of prominent people in this city, and it is alleged that they have committed a large number of burglaries during the past summer. Judge Bailey gave them the option of a reform school sentence, or a cowhiding, and they chose the latter.

"SKEETS" MARTIN HURT.

LONDON, Aug. 15.—In a race today at Redcar for the Coatham Handicap Plate, Lord Harewood's Argovian, ridden by "Skeets" Martin, fell, and Martin's collarbone was broken. J. Lowther's Standerton, ridden by Tyrrell, also fell. Tyrrell was rendered unconscious.

Herbert T. Beatty, a broker, was arraigned in the Tombs Police Court yesterday, charged by Charles W. White, secretary and treasurer of the Balvaine Mining Company, with not accounting for funds and stock of the company, amounting to $17,500. Beatty was paroled in the custody of his counsel for examination on August 19.

PIPE DREAM COMING TRUE.

Cast Iron Arriving for Water System.

Relief Near for Several Dry Sections.

Vernon, Garvanza and Westlake District First to Be Given Improved Service.

Relief is in sight for many districts of the city which have long suffered from an inadequate water supply. Pipe long overdue has begun to arrive at the rate of several cars daily and the work of getting it into the ground is pushed with diligence by Superintendent Muholland.

First on the programme of improvement has been the laying of twelve-inch mains on Hill street from First to Seventh streets, this work being given precedence in order to make way for the paving of that thoroughfare. The job is now about completed, and the crews of workmen will then be transferred to Central avenue.

Similar mains are to be laid on Central avenue from Thirty-sixth to Forty-fifth street, the Vernon district being entirely without city water service. Small private pumping plants and windmills have been the only source of supply for domestic use and property owners have persistently agitated the extension of the main. To prevent the laying of mains merely to aid a real estate boom and insure a satisfactory revenue in return for the expenditure in making the improvement, the Water Board asked the residents of the district to subscribe for service in advance. The Vernonites responded in large numbers and so their needs are to be supplied.

After Central avenue is taken care of the twelve-inch main will be laid out Pasadena avenue to Garvanza. The territory affected by this line, especially the hilly sections, has been in great need of larger mains. The work has already been inaugurated by a small force of workmen, and will be finished as soon as can be.

One of the most needy sections of the city, and consequently one of the most prolific sources of complaint, is that portion of the Westlake district lying in the hills north of Orange street. This section will have an ample supply in a very short time. The force main is already in place and everything now waits on the arrival of the pump. The pump was to have been here five months ago, and is expected very soon.

The pipe is now arriving almost as fast as it can be handled by the forces at the disposition of Superintendent Mulholland, who is giving active personal supervision to the work of carrying out his plan for the enlarging of the system. The pipe is part of the very first batch of material ordered by the Water Board, and the contract called for its delivery here by June 15. About fifty carloads have arrived out of a total of 130 carloads.

The largest cast iron to be used in the low-gravity system will be the thirty-six-inch main artery, which will run from the Buena Vista street reservoir down Alameda street to Fourth, hence over to Central avenue. Down Central avenue it will reduce gradually in size, being thirty inches in diameter at Seventh street and twenty-four inches at Ninth street. At Seventh and Ninth streets twelve-inch cross mains will extend westward. This will reverse the direction of the flow in the distributing system, the southwestern section having always been served from the thirty-inch main running down Hoover street from the Bellevue reservoir.

The business center of the city will be given high pressure—about seventy pounds to the square inch against the existing forty pounds or less. This will necessarily be a force supply, the water being pumped from the new reservoir into a twenty-two-inch main running into the center of the city via Buena Vista and New High streets. Twelve-inch mains now exist on Spring, Main, Hill and Los Angeles streets. On Broadway there is an eighteen-inch main, which in the lower portion tapers into sixteen-inch pipe. The pressure down town will be sufficient to throw the water over the highest buildings right from the hydrants, without going through a fire engine.

Provision is made for any interruption of this high-pressure service by close connection with the low-gravity system. In case of a breakdown of the pumping plant or other unforeseen accident the gates of the main entrance to the heart of the city, located at Ord and New High streets, could be closed and the water diverted to the big Alameda street main. There is a gate at the corner of Alameda and Los Angeles streets, which leads into the downtown mains, and the opening of this would give the center of the city the same water service it has today. Several other inlets are to be provided to furnish the business center water on short notice in case of accident or emergency.

A special from Iowa City states that Charles Holaday has made a confession, in which he states that James Gallaugher was murdered by Mrs. Gallaugher, with his complicity, and that the crime was committed because he and Mrs. Gallaugher were in love.

"THREAD-BARE" YARN.

Report That Schwab is to Retire from Presidency of Steel Corporation is Emphatically Denied.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A yarn that has been worn threadbare by constant use, and the utter absurdity of which is apparent on its face, was revived this morning, and a small portion of the public was regaled with alleged details of the retirement of Charles M. Schwab from the presidency of the United States Steel Corporation, and the identity of the man who is to succeed him.

Not the slightest credence was placed in the story in the financial district, and the fact that the story was made the basis of an attack on Schwab, divested it of all semblance of truth. A positive and emphatic denial was promptly made, some of the directors expressing themselves warmly on the circulation of a story so palpably absurd.

WAS ASKED TO SING BEFORE THE KING.

MISS MAUD REES-DAVIES OF LOS ANGELES DID IT.

The Songbird of Sousa's Aggregation Tells of Her Pleasing Experience at Sandringham Palace—A Los Angeles Girl's Success.

Maud Rees-Davies, who sang before King Edward VII last December, is back at her home in Los Angeles. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davies and they live at the Broadway Van Nuys. Miss Davies was educated here at Hannah College. Yesterday she told a Times reporter of her trip to Sandringham Palace with John Philip Sousa and his band, with whom she was the vocal soloist.

MISS MAUD REES-DAVIES.

"It was a surprise on the Queen, arranged for her birthday by the King. They were spending a month or so at Sandringham, which is about one hundred and fifty miles out of London. The King commanded Mr. Sousa and his band to come out and give a concert. In this country it would be called an invitation, but in England a command of that nature from the King means the forsaking of any other engagement that may conflict.

"The King sent a special train for us, and he also ordered his caterer to attend to our meals, one on the way out and another on the way back."

"Were you paid?" asked the reporter.

"Oh, no. It is a very great honor in England to be so noticed by the King. There are many professionals there who would give a great deal of money to get the chance we had. We played to a very small audience. There were about thirty-five people there, those who were visiting at the castle as the guests of the King. It was the 1st of December. The castle, or palace, as it is called there, is just a fine old English country house, not a great deal more pretentious than many others in the neighborhood. We had a good-sized hall to play in, and the King and Queen were quite near, so we could see them.

"The King looks just like his pictures, and he wore a plain suit of clothes with a few decorations, medals and ribbons on his breast. He was very much pleased with our work and asked for several encores. In England, you know, the bands and orchestras do not play encores, and it was a surprise and delight to the people there to have us gratify them with extra playing. The programme for the King was all of American tunes. He asked for several not on the programme. They were coon songs, but American."

Miss Davies gave the reporter the programme, which follows:

Suite, "Three Quotations" (Sousa;) march, "El Capitan" (Sousa;) solo, trombone, "Love Thoughts" (Pryor,) Arthur Pryor; (a) "A Collection of Hymn Tunes of the American Marches," (b) "The Washington Post" (Sousa;) solo, soprano, "Will You Love Me When the Lilies are Dead?" (Sousa,) Miss Maud Rees-Davies; (a) caprice, "The Spring Sprites" (Kunkel,) (b) march, "The Stars and Stripes Forever" (Sousa,) (c) coon song, "The Honeysuckle and the Bee" (Penn;) solo, violin, "Reverie Nymphalin" (Sousa,) Miss Dorothy Hoyle; "Plantation Songs and Dances" (Clarke.)

"The Queen," continued Miss Davies, "also looks like her pictures. She is, I think, the most courteous, gracious lady I ever met. She wore a small crown, not very different in appearance from those sometimes worn by ladies in this country in ballrooms. After the concert we all met the King and Queen—'were presented,' is the expression. The Queen shook hands with us and the King bowed. You are never allowed to do anything but kiss the hand of the King. In the party there were the Prince and Princess of Wales, the Duke of Cambridge, the Queen's old uncle, the Countess De Grey, the Dowager Duchess of Manchester and a number of diplomats."

Miss Davies is young and pretty and modest. She spoke of her English trip and showed an English paper, the Southport Guardian, that said some fine things about Los Angeles. This is part of the fine things it said about her:

"Perhaps her particularly clear voice and the manner in which she executed all the runs and thrills was because she was born and reared in that most beautiful spot, Los Angeles, in that most beautiful California."

BIBLE LESSONS

FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS AND OTHER BIBLE STUDENTS.

Prepared for The Times by J. S. Kirtley.

For Sunday, August 17, 1902.

Numbers x, 11-13, 29-36; "Journeying Toward Canaan."

THE CONNECTION.

They have now been almost a year encamped at Sinai and have been over a year on the way, for they reached Sinai in the third month, and now it is the second month of the second year and the 20th day of the month. The last lesson was in Leviticus, the name given to that part of Moses' writings which records his instructions to the sons of Levi. This lesson is in Numbers, the part which tells of how the people were twice numbered, this first time just before they left Sinai (Chapter 1) and again about thirty-nine years later at the close of their journeys.

This was a long delay at Sinai, but it was a time of training and preparation. They must be compacted into a nation and trained as God's nation. At Jethro's suggestion Moses had established a judiciary; at God's command he had delivered the law and prepared the instruments of worship. They were to be trained and Moses has taken time to give the law, institute all the rituals and build a place of worship. Now they are prepared to move, since they are so well equipped.

THE LESSON.

I.

"Breaking Camp." (Verses 11-13.)

"11. And it came to pass in the second year, in the second month, on the 20th day of the month, that the cloud was taken up from over the tabernacle of the testimony. 12. And the children of Israel set forward according to their journeys out of the wilderness of Sinai; and the cloud abode in the wilderness of Paran. 13. And they first took their journey according to the commandment of Jehovah by Moses."

The time has come to move on, for all organization and arrangements are complete. They must be compacted into an intelligent, God-fearing, self-commanding nation, and Moses has provided for their training. Now they can start on. It is only a short trip, and they ought to be in the promised land in thirty days, without any trouble—if they are obedient to instructions. But there is where we find their weakness.

The signal for moving was given through the cloud that always hovered over the western end of the tabernacle where the ark was. This was the cloud that became a light by night, that led them when they marched and protected them by resting between them and their enemies when they were encamped. This means that God directed their movements, and did it through this sign that could be easily seen by all and would never be disputed by any. They were to be led by Him. Various forms of statement are used about this pillar of cloud, as if to show in all possible ways how those people were dependent on Him who used the cloud as symbol and signal. Never did they move without that signal; never were they to tarry, when it was once given. If it stood still for a year, they were to remain; if it lifted and moved off at midnight they were to spring up and go. God not only told them when to go and when to stop, but which way to go as well. Complete guidance did He give. The cloud told of God's presence, His glory and His guidance. The ark which it overhung told of His revealed will, His promises and His commands. God still guides by His presence, but it is in harmony with the law and instructions which He has already given.

II.

"Inviting Hobab to Go." (Verses 29-32.)

"29. And Moses said unto Hobab, the son of Reuel the Midianite, Moses' father-in-law, we are journeying unto the place of which Jehovah said, I will give it you; come thou with us, and we will do thee good; for Jehovah hath spoken good concerning Israel. 30. And he said unto him, I will not go; but I will depart to mine own land, and to my kindred. 31. And he said, Leave us not, I pray thee; forasmuch as thou knowest how we are to encamp in the wilderness, and thou shalt be to us instead of eyes. 32. And it shall be, if thou go with us, yea, it shall be, that what good soever Jehovah shall do unto us, the same will we do unto thee."

1. Notice who this man was—a Midianite, also a descendant of Abraham, but in part an idolator; a brother-in-law to Moses, for his father, Reuel or Raguel, who was also called by the official title, Jethro "His Excellency." Hobab's father had come to see Moses soon after they stopped at Sinai, and, when he saw that Moses was working himself to death, suggested a plan of organization that saved much labor. Now, the son has probably come to bid his sister and Moses farewell.

2. The invitation to Hobab is very interesting. It showed the right spirit and was very kindly. There were two reasons why he should go. First, for what he would get. He would get the home that Israel would get; he would get a share in all the good that Israel would get; he would have the presence of God, as they would have; he would be associated with the very best man in the world, the greatest man in all the centuries preceding Christ and a great many other good people. All of this made an unspeakably great opportunity.

Why did Hobab decline? Perhaps it was because he, like all the Arabs, loved the barren wilds better than the comforts of on easier life; perhaps he would soon become head of his tribe, as his father was now old, and he did not want to surrender that position for one of subordination to another leader; perhaps, most of all, it was because he was ignorant of the real value of what was offered to him; perhaps he thought it meant the severing of ties that bound him to his family, since they might decline to go.

Next—Moses made another appeal. Instead of telling him what he could get, he told him what he could give—appealed to his unselfishness. Hobab could help them, for he not only knew the wilderness, but had experience in outdoor life, and he could help them. They could use his sharp eyes to great advantage on that journey. Moses did not show lack of dependence on God by his dependence on men. God does not bring to us what we can secure for ourselves. Moses rather honored God by his efforts to use all the resources of wisdom and power available.

Was this second and more urgent invitation accepted? The silence on that point suggests that it was the purpose of the writer to show us this very human side of Moses' nature, rather than to tell us anything else. And yet it seems to allow the inference that Hobab yielded to this appeal. When we can appeal to the unselfish motives at all, they are always found stronger. What we can get is not of as much interest as what we can give. We read of the "Kenites" in Judges and Samuel who became a part of the nation of Israel, and it seems quite likely that Hobab finally brought his family and went on with Israel. We may not know, but it is a fair inference. There are various motives that may be urged on men to seek the higher good, but we must never forget that they would like to give as well as get good.

III.

"Beginning the Journey." (Verses 33-36.)

"33. And they set forward from the mount of Jehovah three days' journey; and the ark of the covenant of Jehovah went before them three days' journey, to seek out a resting place for them. 34. And the cloud of Jehovah was over them by day, when they set forward from the camp. 35. And it came to pass, when the ark set forward, that Moses said, Rise up, O Jehovah, and let thine enemies be scattered; and let them that hate thee flee before thee. 36. And when it rested, he said, Return, O Jehovah, unto the ten thousands of the thousands of Israel."

Of this three days' journey. 1. It was at the command of God, as has already been stated. 2. It was under the direction of God. The ark went on in advance following the cloud, and the cloud was over them, and leading them on. In that direction there was comfort and protection. The cloud probably spread out and shielded them from the severe sun. Their course was forward, and northward toward their destination. 3. It was a reverent journey. It was begun with invocation that the Lord would rise up and scatter His foes, and ended with the invocation that He would abide with them in their camp. The opening prayer assumes that there will be enemies, which they found to be true. We find it also true, for if life is a march, it is not a "dead march," but a march into the arena that promises struggle. It is a battle. That prayer assumes that their foes were God's foes, and so they were as long as, in humble obedience, they were God's friends. If our foes are God's foes we are safe. It assumes that those foes should be scattered, and so they should be, even today. We have a right to be full of courage and hope as long as we are one with God, in purpose and plan and action.

The closing prayer betrays no lack of confidence in God or His plans. On the contrary, it shows a clinging dependence on Him that is of the very essence of faith itself. It shows the sense of helplessness without Him. Moses, no doubt, first uttered the prayer and taught it to the people, and it discloses his sympathetic oneness with the people. He had journeyed with God and now could not live without Him. He was conscious of such devotion to God's cause that he wished for victory for God's sake as well as theirs. He not only had sympathy for the mass, but for the individual as well, and he thought that God's presence and care were for each as well as all.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Reuel (or Raguel) means "Shepherd of God." If this very significant name were given him at his birth, it would seem as if this family had perpetuated the traditions derived from their father Abraham; or it may have been common then, as it is now, for a man to change his name late in life under certain circumstances. For instance, a monk, a priest, or a bishop, at ordination, drops the name given him at his birth, if it is a common one like Farris, or Dieb, etc., and assumes a sacred name, as John, Peter, Paul, etc., and Reuel, if not previously a follower of El-Elohe Israel ("the God of Israel") was certainly impressed by Moses' description of the wonders done "to the Egyptians" for Israel's sake (Exod. xviii, 8;) and he made a public profession saying, "Now I know that Jehovah is greater than all gods" (Exod. xviii, 11,) and he was received by Aaron and the elders unto the covenant of Israel, offering burnt offerings and sacrifices, etc. (Exod. xviii, 12.) It is very probable that on this occasion he received the name Raeguel ("Shepherd of God,") although it might be used by him in Exodus ii, 18, by anticipation. "Jethro," which means "His Excellency," was rather a title than a proper name, and Moses spoke of "His Excellency," the priest of Midian" (Exod. xviii, 1,) as we would now speak of His Reverence Kudsohu) the priest, or His Lordship (saidathu) the bishop.

The Woman Who Died at the Receiving Hospital Unidentified—Coroner's Jury Renders Verdict.

The body of the woman who died at the Receiving Hospital Thursday night from acute alcholism was removed to Booth & Boyison's parlors to await identification. Further than that she gave her name as Mrs. Andrews nothing whatever was elicited concerning her. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict reciting the facts of her having been picked up on Fifth street east of Main, and her subsequent death of acute alcoholism at the Receiving Hospital.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Comments on the uniform prayer-meeting topic of The Christian Endeavor Societies, The Epworth League, The Baptist Young People's Union, etc.

By William T. Ellis.

Abraham is called "the father of the faithful." He is himself the type of the man full of faith. By faith he made a great surrender, giving up his old home and old life and all that was sure to human eye. By faith he dared a great enterprise, going out into an unknown land at the call of God, to spend his life and found a nation. By faith, he endured great testings, of many sorts. By faith he won a great victory, becoming the father of the only nation that has preserved its identity unto this day, and more wonderful still, the father of Him who came in the flesh to be the Redemeer and King of the whole world. To surender, to dare, to endure and to win, are eternal characteristics of the life of faith.

If faith is not our possession, faithfulness will not be our practice.

The world's greatest men—those whose greatness endures through the centuries—have ever been men with an eye open to the invisible. They have been men of faith, living by and for that which is unseen. The eternal principles which govern destiny have been more real to them than the temporary conditions of the time in which they lived. They were great enough to have a sublime disregard for ephemeral facts, caring only for changeless truth. Most men are controlled by the things which are seen; but history is dominated by the things which are not seen. The real leader is he who has faith enough to base all his life on the eternal, though invisible, verities.

Every promised land must first be possessed by faith, before it can be possessed in fact.

Let an overmastering faith in a great truth possess a man's soul and that man becomes at once formidable. He has the highest equipment of a fighter, confidence in himself and in the victory of his cause. The heroes whose name the world will not let die have all been men of faith; what was not, but should be, was more real to them than that which really was. Only an overmastering faith in eternal principles can equip a man to do battle against great odds, and to fling himself fearlessly against intrenched evil. Doing just this, though, is the proof of faith, for it is putting one's confidence in the invisible things of God and eternity against the formidable and visible forces of time. Of course, faith ultimately wins, though usually its lot is that of the patriachs—to die without receiving the promises, though greeting them from afar. But then, faith, real faith, does not have to concern itself with victory, for that is God's to give or withhold in His own good time.

Faith believes God's word sooner than it believes its own eyes.

We meet on the busy streets now and then, men and women whose strong, serene faces tell the story of a life lived by faith. To them the invisible is more real than the visible. These are they who have overcome the world. For it takes great faith to live consistently the calm spirit life amid the jarring of this material world. It is not easy to do so. The mind must ever be kept turned Godward; and the soul's conception of the eternal verities must be fresh and vivid. And as a reward, the life of faith gives liberty, peace and power for this present world, and an assurance of larger and freer and happier life in that world which lies just beyond the near portal called death.

Faith seems folly to the sensualist and the materialist, who do not realise that their very inability to discern spiritual things is the greatest loss in the world.

The spiritual life is not a public pose; by its very nature it cannot be. It must be an invisible life, "hid with Christ in God." Its springs lie too deep for human eyes to behold; and it comes to symmetry and power away from the gaze of man. The life of faith is a secret, inner life, open to no eye but that of the Father who seeth in secret.

The life of faith is the life lived with respect to God, and not with respect to men.

The world's mark of success is a dollar mark; God's mark is simply faith. The great question propounded by Jesus is, "When the Son of Man cometh, shall He find faith on the earth?"

Better rich in faith and poor in estate, than rich in goods and poor in faith. For soul wealth is the only abiding riches.

Every man asks faith of his friend. The instant a friend fails to show perfect confidence in us he is no longer our friend. If he begins to distrust our motives, our worthiness, or our friendship, that instant he begins to lose his place in our hearts. Without faith no relations of affection are possible. This is plain and simple reasoning. On it is based the scripture's profound declarations that "without faith it is impossible to be well-pleasing unto God." Failure to trust Him is forfeiture of all our claims upon Him. Lack of faith in Him is an offense to His Majesty and trustworthiness. No other offering that we can bring to God can make up for the lack of faith. Failing in that, we fail in all.

Little faith may be employed to get greater faith.

It is easier to sing and talk and write about faith than to live it. But the victory and the rewards are promised to those who practice faith, and not to those who praise it.

A SPLENDID HISTORY

For Readers of "The Times"—A Chance to Secure a Great Work at a Low Price.

The Times has made arrangements with a prominent publication house to secure for its readers a set of views of the Islands of Martinique, St. Vincent, Guadeloupe, St. Lucia, Dominica, Barbadoes, the Danish West Indies, with the last views of Mont Pelee, La Soufriere and the cities buried by the recent volcanic eruptions.

These views are of very great interest at present and will be of permanent value. The work is both descriptive and historical, giving facts and data of the more important West Indian Islands brought into public notice by the recent volcanic disturbances. It gives in a concise and interesting way their origin, geographical and political character with the history and characteristics of the people. The exceptionally clear and artistic views show very graphically the charming aspects of Martinique, St. Vincent and other places before the eruptions of Mont Pelee and La Soufriere, while the large number of views taken since these disasters show the country as it now is, and convey as realistic an effect as could be attained by a personal visit. The descriptions and views of the Danish West Indies included in the work will be not only of present but of permanent interest, as these islands, in all probability, will soon be a portion of United States territory.

The illustrations are from photographs, many of which were taken at the risk of the lives of the daring photographers, and include views of the various islands and their people, more particularly of Martinique and St. Vincent. Forty of these views were taken while Mont Pelee was still in eruption, and convey, better than any text, an idea of the destruction and desolation of this dreadful disaster. Many views are given of Guadeloupe, St. Lucia, and Dominica, in which many of the inhabitants of the stricken country have taken refuge. The views of the country and people in the Danish West Indies give a faithful representation of what promises to be soon a portion of the United States.

The work is beautifully printed on the finest quality of coated paper, made especially for this edition, and has been separated with great care throughout. The size, 10x12, gives opportunity to display the illustrations to the best advantage, while not too large to go on library shelf.

The work will be issued in ten parts of 16 pages each and sold for 10 cents a part, or $1 for the complete work. When sent by mail, the price will be 12 cents a part, or $1.20 for the complete work, postpaid. Readers of The Times can secure any part, or the whole work, by cutting out a coupon printed in The Times and bringing or sending it to this office, with the proper amount.

The first four parts of this great work are now ready for distribution.

Men's Diseases.

O. C. JOSLEN, M. D., Strictly Reliable.

Why Dr. Joslen's Treatment Brings Quick and Thorough Cures.

Rightly treat a curable ailment and you cure it quickly. Treat with partial accuracy and you help but temporarily or fail entirely. Many of my patients are men who have for years tried to rid themselves of some clinging disorder. Under my treatment a radical improvement is quickly noted. A cure begins at once. As time passes the more marked is the progress and the cure is always complete in the briefest possible time.

The treatment that cures quickly also cures thoroughly. No one doubts this. The fact is in direct accordance with scientific reasoning. My cures are accomplished quickly. They are not partial or temporary cures, but time proves them absolutely thorough and permanent. My methods are original, scientific and adequate, and this is why my cures are permanent and are quickly accomplished.

"Weakness."

Functional derangement, such as premature ness, loss of power, etc., is neither a "weakness" nor a disease. It is a symptom of prostatic disorder. To stimulate activity by the use of powerful tonics is an easy matter, but such results are merely temporary drug effects. Most doctors treat "weakness" in this manner because they do not know how to cure the real cause of the derangement. I am the only physician employing scientific and successful methods. I use no tonics at all. My treatment is a local one entirely, and corrects every abnormal condition of that vital center, the prostate gland. My cures are real cures, and are permanent.

Varicocele.

Under my treatment the most aggravated cases of varicocele are cured in a few days' time. There is no pain, and it is seldom necessary that the patient be detained from his occupation. Normal circulation is at once restored throughout all the organs, and the natural process of waste and repair are again established, and you are rid with varicocele, consult me at once. Delays can but bring on aggravated conditions and nervous complications that will impair the vital functions and involve the general health.

Stricture.

My treatment for stricture is entirely independent of surgery. A complete cure is accomplished without cutting or dilating. All growths and obstructions in the passage are dissolved, the membranes cleansed, and all irritation or congestion removed.

Contracted Disorders.

In the treatment of contracted disorders I offer a service such as no other physician can render. The remedies I employ have a most thorough and positive action in cleansing the membranes of all infection and subduing all inflammation. My manner of application insures absolute thoroughness, and removes every possibility of relapse or a chronic stage. My cures are not only thorough, but are accomplished in the briefest time possible.

STATE OF TRADE.

DUN'S WEEKLY REVIEW.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade will say tomorrow that prospects have greatly improved, though numerous labor controversies yet remain. The anthracite coal situation is unchanged, and supplies are nearing depletion. Distribution of merchandise has met with some interruption, owing to freight blockades, the volume of business being very heavy. Statistics of pig iron production of August 1, according to the Iron Age, are more satisfactory than might have been expected in view of the great scarcity of fuel. Shoe manufacturers at the East have received practically all the fall orders that will be placed, and new business is now restricted to sample orders in spring lines. Leather has again risen in price, and sales were heavy during the past week, not only in sole, but also upper stock and belting butts. Recent violent advances in hides have been fully maintained, and large transactions occurred, while heavy Texas steers reached a new record price. Despite the very favorable reports from dry goods jobbers regarding the volume of business transacted and the bright outlook for fall trade, conditions in the primary market and at the mills are now devoid of incident. Considering the official report of cereal crop conditions, the firmness of quotations during the past week has been somewhat surprising. Failures for the week number 196 in the United States, against 168 last year.

Bradstreet's Review.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say that the weather conditions have been favorable, and the country is a week nearer to realizing the largest harvest in its history. Fall trade in the western and northern sections has expanded, and in the West and Northwest may be said to be in full career, with every mail drawing and with the best of outlooks, both as regards agriculture yield and prices. The need of larger quantities of money to move the crops is appreciated, and confidence in the work of handling the crops with a minimum of friction is widely expressed, though a further seasonable tightening of the situation is looked for. The physical handling of the crops by the railroads presents a problem which must also be met, and the possibility of a car shortage looms up, second only to the second financing of the movement itself. The favorable trade features noted this week are the expansion in the fall demand for drygoods, hardware, groceries, shoes and millinery at leading markets, North, West, East and Northwest, the more optimistic views expressed as to the large size of the southern cotton crop and its effect on future business, the strength of iron and steel, caused by the curtailment of production in July as a result of the shortage in fuel supplies, due to the strike and car shortages, the firmness in lumber mills being heavily sold ahead, and the continuance of the improved export demand for cereals, particularly wheat, with the steadiness in prices of actual grain, which is in active request, while speculation is rather slow. The less favorable features noted are the restriction of trade in summer goods caused by cool weather, the continuance of the deadlock at the anthracite coal mines, with the growing nervousness as to supplies and prices if the strike continues until cool weather, and the unfavorable figures of July export trade, caused by the projection of last year's conditions into the present season. Collections as a whole are classed as seasonable. Pig-iron production is still restricted by scarcity of cars affecting coke supplies and the anthracite strike. Nothing like the present activity in hardware is recalled. All markets report activity in this line, and Chicago notes large sales for spring delivery. Wheat, including flour, exports for the week ending August 14, aggregate 4,391,506 bushels, against 4,944,362 bushels last week, and 9,039,761 bushels last year. Wheat exports since July 1 aggregate 24,990,098 bushels, against 44,571,998 bushels last season.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The solicitude felt over the possible stringency of money was exemplified by the effect upon the stock market of a flurry in the call money rate to 9 per cent. The fact that stock-exchange loans made Friday were at 3 per cent, the following Monday makes the customary demand Friday somewhat more urgent than on other days. The special cause offered to explain today's sharp advance was the maturity of subscriptions for the new Oregon Short Line collateral bonds, secured by deposit of Northern Securities stock. The payments called for about $15,000,000 and necessitated considerable shifting of loans to meet requirements. The rate dropped back to near 3 per cent at the close, after the demand had been satisfied. There have been a number of other syndicate operations during the past week, which may account in part for the bank statement tomorrow. Among these were the payment of subscriptions to the United States Shipbuilding Company, the payment of a dividend by United States Steel and Underwriting Syndicate and the dividend on United States Steel preferred, payable today. So far as the indicated changes go promise, tomorrow's bank statement will not be unfavorable. The movement of currency with the interior seems to be in favor of New York still, though receipts in excess of the bank statement for the week amounted to $1,500,000 against the loss to the sub-treasury of $632,000. The New York exchange rate at Chicago fell to par today, compared with 10 cents premium yesterday, and 20 cents premium Wednesday. This is an index of the growth of the pressure from the interior upon New York funds. Rates for this money also advanced today to a uniform 5 per cent. for all periods. In response to the higher money market, there was additional large offerings in the exchange market of loan bills, as well as of grain bills for September, October and November delivery. The exchange market was in consequence weak. An incidental influence upon the weakness of stocks was the report of rains in the spring-wheat harvesting region, which affected the grain markets as well. As was to be expected, the selling pressure was most acute upon those stocks which have advanced most conspicuously of late. Missouri Pacific fell two points below last night, and the other Gould stocks and the Grangers and Pacifics were generally affected to a less extent. Southern Pacific resisted the decline, but yielded its opening gain, recovering again to about the best in the closing rally upon enormous dealings. St. Louis-Southwestern preferred also moved up two points over last night just at the close. Pennsylvania, Louisville and Nashville and Rock Island had periods of strength. The newest favorites in the rumors of deals were the Toledo, St. Louis and Western stocks, which were bought in a demonstrative way by the western speculative party, closing at the top. The bond market was generally easier. Total sales (par value), $2,350,000. Government refunding 2s advanced ¼, the old 4s, registered and 5s registered ¼ per cent and the 5s, coupon, ½ per cent, on the last call.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—There was a halt today in the steady downward trend of copper prices, no change being recorded, and the market having a steadier tone, although there was not much demand and no sales were officially reported. Standard spot closed at 11.00@11.30; lake, 11.50@11.75; electrolytic, 11.40@11.50, and casting at 11.40@11.50. For the month of July production of copper in the United States amounted to 36,740 tons compared with 21,955 tons for the same period a year ago. The production so far this year amounts to 167,197 tons against 155,379 tons last year. The primary reason for the market's recent depression is attributed to the increased production and heavy supplies already on hand. London reported an advance of 1s 3d, spot closing at £51 12s 6d, and futures at £51 17s 6d. Tin rallied £2 10s on spot and £1 9s on futures in the London market today, private cables attributing the further recovery to bull manipulations and covering. Spot closed at £127 15s, and futures £128 15s 6d. The local response was hardly as full as expected, prices gaining but 20 points, making spot 28.40@28.60. Lead prices were unchanged and steady. Spelter continued firm and unchanged. Iron prices were 2d higher at Glasgow. Warrants nominal.

London Financial Market.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: "The cheerfulness of yesterday was maintained today. Brokers agree that the recent liquidation has left the market in a more healthy condition than at any time since the beginning of the Boer war, though real activity can hardly be expected till the late autumn. Consols sold at 95 9-16. American stocks responded to higher parities, with Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio the features on New York support. Prices wavered in the afternoon on fears that the statement of the New York associated banks might be unfavorable. The finish was dull. Discounts hardened to 2 11-16d on the fall in American exchange."

GENERAL EASTERN MARKETS

GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 15.—Wheat spurted early on the fears of shorts and rain in the spring harvests. Congestion on contract stocks was marked with one house practically in control. The opening was somewhat wild, with everybody wanting stuff and offerings very light. Considerable manipulation was practically the entire cause of the upturn seemed reasonable from the fact that receipts, primary, local, Northwest and Southwest were much smaller; that Argentine shipments were increased; that the Hungarian and Roumanian crops were large, and that exporters offered freely with few takers. Although September was the manipulated month, December profited today. After prices had been pushed up well, the holders unloaded in September and unstraddled their spreads by taking on December. Still December held to its discount of over 3 cents. September started ⅝ to ¾ up, at 70¾@70⅞, and sold to 71⅛. There was a dip to 70⅝, but September closed firm, 1c up, at 70⅞. Corn was helped by the strength in wheat. Small receipts and rain helped there. Longs, however, fed the market liberally and prices slumped off. September closed steady, unchanged at 51⅛. Rains and manipulation by bulls in September options lifted oats prices from some early show of excitement. There was some late offering on the bulge, but prices held well. September closed strong, 1c up, at 32⅜. Grading was retarded by the rains. Provisions were irregular and dull. September pork closed 5c up; lard 5c off, and ribs 5½c down.

The leading futures closed as follows:

Orange County Towns---Santa Ana and Anaheim.

NEWS REPORTS FROM TIMES CORRESPONDENTS.

COUNTING OF NOSES IN ORANGE COUNTY.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION TODAY AT SANTA ANA.

Montgomery and Daniels for Judge, Lacy and Sleeper for Sheriff, and Other Contests Close—Marriage License for Westminster Children.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 15.—The time approaches for the Democratic county convention and interest increases in the make-up of the ticket which will be pitted against that of the Republicans. Today the friends of V. Montgomery, candidate for Superior Judge, are claiming at least half the votes of the Santa Ana delegation, and they expect a comfortable majority of the country votes. On the other hand, Daniel's friends claim all the city votes except one, and they say he will receive a very large majority of the support from the country.

For Sheriff the contest is "Hopkins's choice" between Lacy and Sleeper, and it is a wise man who can pick the winner. R. A. Graham is also a candidate, but the leading Santa Ana Democratic politicians say he will not be in at the finish.

For District Attorney there is only one announced candidate, Col. W. F. Heathman, but it is intimated today that the name of H. C. Head of Fullerton will perhaps come before the convention, and if it does, it goes without saying that the "Col." will have a run for his money.

The contest for nomination for Superintendent of Schools, between J. J. Zielian and B. F. Beswick, will be close, with Zielian in possession of small odds.

J. A. Booly, it is conceded, will have no opposition for the nomination for Assessor, as will also J. C. Joplin for Treasurer.

Candidates, in most part, are picked out for each of the other offices, but interest will be centered in the selection of those above mentioned.

The convention will meet tomorrow in Neill's Hall.

SHIPPING GRAPES.

From the fields in the vicinity of Orange, McPherson and Villa Park large shipments of grapes are made daily to Los Angeles.

Several Los Angeles wholesale fruit dealers have purchased the greater part of the crop in this section in the field, and they have men on the ground gathering the fruit and shipping it to Los Angeles, where it appears each morning fresh from the fields. The quality is said to be excellent, although the vines have not made as vigorous a growth this year as in years past.

PROHIBITION CONVENTION.

The Prohibitionists of this county have called a convention to meet in this city tomorrow in the Methodist Church on Bush street to elect delegates to the State Prohibition Convention in Los Angeles the 27th inst. The convention will also elect a new County Central Committee.

LITTLE GIRL KILLED BY HER BABY SISTER.

ACCIDENTAL DISCHARGE OF RIFLE BEREAVES A FAMILY.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hatfield of Anaheim Shot in the Breast With a Carelessly-left Weapon.

ANAHEIM, Aug. 15.—Lizzie, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hatfield of West Anaheim, met death this morning by the accidental discharge of a 22-caliber repeating rifle. One of her brothers had the arm out to shoot a chicken or something about the yard, and when he took it to the house it is believed he left it cocked.

Rosie Hatfield, aged 8 years, and a sister of Lizzie, picked up the weapon, which went off immediately, and as Lizzie was standing directly in front of it the ball penetrated the center of the breast, about three inches below the collar of her dress, lodging in the back just under the skin.

The little sufferer gave a groan, but did not utter a word. She died within thirty minutes. The whole family is grief-stricken over the accident. A son of Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield has been down with the lockjaw the past month, an account of which was published in The Times a few days ago, and is just recovering.

PROTEGE OF THE ELKS AGAIN TO THE FORE.

BESSIE BEATTY RESUMES LEAD IN SCHOLARSHIP RACE.

Florence Darch Retired to Fourth Place After a Hard Struggle—Words of Sympathy and Cheer for Various Contestants—A Few Withdrawals.

Only a few changes in the positions of the contestants in the scholarship race have taken place in the last twenty-four hours. The most notable change is at the head of the list, Bessie Beatty having regained the leadership, and Florence Darch retiring from first to fourth place, which Miss Beatty has just vacated. Gladys Edmonds has regained eighth place, Elsie Anderson being retired to ninth position. Hattie Lander has overtaken Gertrude Ellis and is now No. 20, while Miss Ellis is No 21. Little Hazel Keller has set John Burbaw back by moving up to thirty-second place, while the latter becomes No. 33. No other changes in position have occurred since the last report, but a good many of the contestants have increased their scores.

The Arizona contestants have not made much progress in the last twenty-four hours. Alta Barlow, whose name has appeared at the bottom of the Arizona list, has withdrawn from the contest and requested the transfer of her 182 votes to the credit of her friend, Mary O'Shea. This cannot be done under the rules of the contest as "trading," or transferring of points from one contestant to another is not allowed. Miss Barlow was formerly a student in the Normal School at Tempe, and had intended taking another term there, but her folks have removed to this city and as she does not expect to return to Arizona, she has decided to make no further effort for the scholarship.

Miss Georgia A. Pitts of Redlands has also sent in her withdrawal. She has requested the transferrence of her score of 875 points to the account of Elsie Anderson of Pasadena, but this canont be done, for reasons already stated.

There are several others on the list who may drop out if their scores do not increase more rapidly, soon. All have a fighting chance yet to make a winning, but the time is growing short and those who hope to win will have to get a move on pretty soon, or it will be too late.

Among those still a long way from the goal, is Vivian Lewis, a very bright little girl, who has not given up, although her chances of being one of the prize winners have at no time seemed very good. Concerning Miss Vivian's efforts, her friend, Miss Howard, of Garvanza, writes: "I should like to say a word of two for my little friend Vivian Lewis, who is trying for a scholarship. She is a very apt, bright and industrious little girl, and has been working very hard to earn a scholarship. I sincerely hope she will be successful, for she is very deserving."

Claud Rothrock of Long Beach had made up his mind to give up the fight a few days ago, but he reconsidered and will try for a little while longer to make a winning score. Young Rothrock is an exemplary lad in many respects, and would doubtless have succeeded much better than he has thus far, if it were not for the fact that another Long Beach boy, Robert Earle Dane, is a very popular candidate and has lately been getting nearly all of the scholarship points from that place. Dane is succeeding remarkably well and will undoubtedly get one of the scholarships if he keeps up his present gait.

Long Beach has also been contributing some support to Edwin B. Fussell of Pasadena, whose popularity is not confined to one town. Fussell has now passed the 10,000 mark and may safely be counted among the lucky ones who will be in the race at the finish.

John Burbaw of Pasadena is another boy who has been making an up-hill fight. His prospects are not yet very bright, but he has the kind of pluck and spirit of perseverance which makes him hopeful of success, even in the face of defeat. Burbaw deserves more than a mere complimentary vote.

Susie Edmonds of South Pasadena, the only colored contestant, is making a good showing, notwithstanding the many difficulties she has to contend with. The last edition of the Liberator, a newspaper edited by her father, contained a very excellent half-tone portrait of Miss Susie on the first page of the paper, and the following interesting notice of her candidacy and The Times Scholarship Contest:

"Miss Edmonds, proofreader of the Liberator, is the only colored girl in The Times Scholarship Contest. Being a working girl, she has been unable to give to the contest the time it deserves. For the generous support she has received from friends, both white and black, she is very grateful, especially so to the white citizens of South Pasadena, who are so nobly standing by her. Rev. J. E. Edwards, the popular pastor of the Azusa-street A.M.E. church, has also rendered valuable service. He stopped another daily paper and paid in advance a three months' subscription to The Times for Susie's benefit. He is also doing good work among his young people. In fact, the colored people are beginning to take a lively interest in the contest, and the chances to win are good. If the colored people of this city and vicinity who do not read The Times will pay an advanced subscription of three to six months, she will be a sure winner. The Times is a great paper, and treats all alike. If the colored people will call the attention of their white friends to this contest, many of them would subscribe for Susie's benefit."

Among the numerous expressions of sympathy and esteem for contestants received by The Times are the following:

Mrs. N. S. Alling of Lamanda Park writes: "Some time ago I read in your contest columns that Miss M. Ella J. Lane of Compton was rather handicapped in procuring subscriptions, living in a suburban town. Although she is a stranger to me, the fact that she is struggling to obtain a scholarship under difficulties appeals to my sympathy. I take pleasure in sending the inclosed coupons. Wish I was in a position to send in many thousand points."

"E. A. H." of Los Angeles writes: "Inclosed please find thirteen coupons which I wish placed to the credit of Violet May Dawson. I have known the 'little acorn' since she was quite a child, and consider her most worthy of the support of all in this contest. I only wish I could increase her score by 13,000, instead of 13. May she win."

Mrs. H. G. Dean of Los Angeles writes: "I want to say a few words in favor of Hubert Leroy O'Neil. I have known him for over seven years, and can honestly testify that there is not a more deserving competitor for one of the scholarships. He is only 13 years of age. His parents have had to work very hard to educate their two sons (the other is younger.) The mother has always been anxious to have her sons well-behaved and polite. Hubert is an exceptionally bright boy, and has a wonderful talent for drawing. He always stood at the head of his classes in the schools here in the city. The race he is making shows that he is working and is deserving the assistance of anyone who wants to help an ambitious boy."

"A Friend of All the Contestants" writes: "Please put these few coupons to Hubert Leroy O'Neil's list. It may be he will not get a scholarship, but I have a very warm place in my heart for all boys and girls who try to help their parents, especially a mother. If I could have my wish they would everyone have the scholarship they are trying for."

SAN BERNARDINO.

PLEASING RAILWAY NEWS.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 15.—Residents and property owners along E street are elated over the news, which seems confirmed, that it is the intention of the Southern Pacific to remove its tracks from that thoroughfare as soon as the necessary rights of way for the proposed new line into the city have been secured. As confirmation that this is the intention of the company, the Mayor has received a letter from Superintendent R. H. Ingram at Los Angeles, in which he assures that official of the fact. The new plan of the company contemplates the construction of a standard-gauge line from Colton here, to follow Colton avenue to the south line of this city, and thence over private lands of the company to its station. The company asks that a franchise be granted for a standard road, which in all probability will be done.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

The City Trustees last night granted the Traction Company a franchise over Base Line street east from D street, for $100.

Colton has been an active field for the fruit dryer this season, and it is estimated that over $5000 has been paid out there for labor. The output of dried fruit is large and of excellent quality.

The City Trustees and the promoters of the Craig-Martin offer of a water right to the city have discovered that before the plans proposed can be carried out it will be necessary to obtain a right of way for pipe lines over a tract of land owned by the East Riverside Irrigation Company. The outcome is looked for with interest.

Mrs. J. W. F. Diss of Los Angeles is visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. Pfeiffer.

ONTARIO.

NARROW ESCAPE.

ONTARIO, Aug. 15.—Jacob Jesson had a narrow escape from being crushed in front of his drug store on Euclid avenue. The North Ontario transfer had come down to the store for luggage, and as Jesson was getting into the wagon, the seat, of which he had taken hold, came loose, throwing him under the horses' heels, under the wagon and over the lines. The horses made a wild rush down the avenue, but Jesson was not carried with them, being pitched out in a remarkable manner. No bones were broken, but he was severely bruised all over.

ONTARIO BREVITIES.

RIVERSIDE.

EX-WIFE "CUT OUT."

RIVERSIDE, Aug. 15.—The contest over the $2000 life-insurance polify left by the late Arthur F. Seward, in the Maccabees, was disposed of in the Superior Court. Shortly before his death Seward secured a divorce from his wife, and made a will bequeathing the $2000 to Miss Lucy Webster, canceling the claims of the ex-wife, to whom the policy was first made. The court decided that Miss Webster is entitled to the money. The case will be brought up in another form by the attorneys for the ex-wife.

SAN JACINTO.

NOTHING IN "SHOOTING" CASE.

SAN JACINTO, Aug. 13.—Col. J. T. Ritchey, owner of the Lythia Springs and hotel at San Jacinto, is incensed at the action of J. W. Sallee, a fellow-townsman, who had Ritchey arrested on a charge of shooting him. The case was tried Thursday in the magistrate's court, and promptly dismissed. The dispute arose over the action of Sallee in trying to cut, as Col. Ritchey claims, a fence belonging to him on the Lythia Springs property. Ritchel claims that he threatened Sallee with bodily harm if he trespassed further on his property, whereupon Sallee had him arrested on a charge of shooting him. Col. Ritchey, who is a well-known resident of that section, but who is spending the summer here, said last night: "J. W. Sallee has, upon several occasions during the past two years, attempted fraudulently to abstract money from me, and the recent trouble was another effort in that direction, inasmuch as Sallee offered to dismiss the charge preferred against me upon payment by me of $200, which proposition Sallee acknowledged under oath that he had made. Sallee has at different times trespassed upon my properties, and in such trespass caused a great deal of damage by unlawfully cutting down timber and appropriating it to his own use; by setting fire to a valuable cottonwood grove, but cutting down fences and by violating every instinct of a gentleman."

SANTA BARBARA COUNTY.

CLOSING OF DISTRICT FAIR.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 15.—The fair was formally closed today. The polo game between the Santa Barbara and visitors' teams was very exciting. The line-up was: Santa Barbara, Colby, Wickenden, Rogers and E. J. Boeseke; Visitors, Roberts, Ridington, Praed and Bettner. The last-named in each team playing back. E. A. Boeseke acted as umpire. The game was one of the cleverest ever played in Santa Barbara, the exhibition of skill and horsemanship being fine. The result was a score of four to two in favor of the visitors.

Information was received today that Arthur S. Gibbs, well known in this city, died in Portland, Or., the 6th inst. Mr. Gibbs came to San Barbara from the northwest about a year ago to take the position of soliciting freight and passenger agent for the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, created for him because of his satisfactory service to the company in other fields, with the hope that the climate would restore his health. Two months ago he decided to return to Portland, his health having improved but little. He was a prominent Mason, and for a number of years held the secretaryship of the Harmony Lodge of Portland Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, and Oregon Commandery, Knights Templar. He was also a member of the Sons of the American Revolution. He was born in Hillsdale, Mich., April 23, 1857. He married Miss Alice Clay April 8, 1886. He leaves a widow and two sons.

The gasoline launch Peerless left for Santa Cruz Island yesterday with traps and supplies for the West Coast Packing Company, which operates on the island. Indications are that crawfish will be as plentiful this season as they were a year ago, and with improved appliances for taking them, it is thought the season will be a prosperous one.

The lumber schooner Jaqua sailed for Redondo yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Carpari has sold her new cottage on Victoria street near Garden to Joshua Snell.

THOUSANDS OF TREES FOR NEW FORESTS.

SANTA MONICA STATION ABOUT TO PLANT THEM.

Practical Usefulness of the State University's Institution Demonstrated. Sunday-school Day at the Christian Convention—The Modern Woodmen's Dance.

SANTA MONICA, Aug. 15.—The Santa Monica Forestry Station is to be put to practical use at once, the experimental stage having reached the condition warranting such action. About 20,000 trees will be planted on the station tract this winter. Seeds of seventy-five varieties of foreign trees have been germinated this season, and many are large enough for transplanting as soon as the winter rains begin. This station has been maintained without aid, at the expense of the University of California, seven years. William Shutt, the manager is enthusiastic over the work, and thinks Southern California will be very much benefited by this movement to increase the forest growth.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL DAY.

This morning's session of the Christian convention was devoted to a discussion of the best methods of Sunday-school administration, how to interpret the truths of the Bible, and how to so place them before the youthful minds as to make them best understood and applied.

FISHERS' GREAT SPORT NEAR LONG BEACH.

THIRTY-THREE-FOOT LAUNCH IN TOW OF A JEWFISH.

City Trustee Hendrickson's Hour-and-a-quarter Struggle With a Gamey Monster Bigger Than Himself—Curious Find in Another Catch.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 15.—With lines almost as fine as threads two jewfish were caught by local rod-and-reel men today. The lucky ones were City Trustee Carl Hendrickson and William Schilling, Jr.

Hendrickson, in company with R. Pinkham and M. Mason of Los Angeles, went out this morning on the launch Fleur de Lis, Capt. W. H. Graves, to the fishing banks twelve miles down the coast. The anchor was dropped and numerous sheepshead, bass and other small fish were caught with hand lines.

Hendrickson baited a jewfish hook with a two-pound live sheepshead, and let it out on his rod-and-reel line of the Tuna Club standard of fineness. He got two "strikes" which resulted in failure to land the fish, and Capt. Graves got one on a big hand line.

Then the excitement commenced. A jewfish took the bait on Hendrickson's line, and the City Trustee soon realized that he had a big fight on his hands. Capt. Graves let the fish pull the stern of the launch about while he hoisted the anchor, an operation that was considerably delayed by the anchor fouling in the kelp.

When he got the anchor up, Capt. Graves leaped to the engine, and there followed a series of reverses and go-aheads that was very rapid. With a thirty-three-foot launch big enough to easily carry a score of persons, the man at the rod end of the line was working at a big disadvantage, and every effort was put forth to run the launch ahead or astern, so as not to bring the tension on the line to the breaking point.

The big fish started for Catalina Island, and over a good deal of the course for a mile and a quarter was towing the big launch. The fish fought fiercely and gave the fisherman no rest. The man was lighter than the fish he was playing. Some of the time Hendrickson had both thumbs jammed down hard on the leather brake on the reel, and yet the line was reeling out at a furious pace. The labor of reeling in whenever there was a chance involved extremely fatiguing work of the hands, and as the end approached the man was almost as much wearied as was the fish.

When, after the fight had lasted an hour and a quarter, Capt. Graves saw the monster coming up close to the launch, as the shortening line brought it to the surface, he gaffed it and ran a rope through its gills. A little later it was safely stowed in the boat's fish box.

Scales for weighing were not available when the monster was brought to the pleasure pier. Its weight was estimated at between 150 and 175 pounds.

William Schilling, Sr., went out on the launch Helena, Capt. Mason, and on the same grounds where Hendrickson made the big catch, he caught a jewfish weighing about 100 pounds. A twenty-minute fight with a rod-and-reel line was required to capture the fish.

TAGGED JEWFISH.

An examination of the jewfish caught by Capt. Moody on the launch Ivy Wednesday disclosed a hook of a peculiar make lodged in its gullet. The hook was identified as one that had been lost by J. B. Losee, the sportsman from Montana, who is staying in Long Beach. Mr. Losee hooked a jewfish on those grounds several days ago with his fine rod-and-reel line, and after pulling out a long piece of line, the fish tangled it in the kelp, broke it and got away. The one caught by Moody is believed to have been the same fish.

FISHING BREVITIES.

With his rod-and-reel line J. B. Losee caught a twenty-two-pound yellowtail not far from the pleasure wharf on a trolling expedition Wednesday. The yellowtail have been uncommonly gamey lately, and it has usually required a stiff fight to land one.

A party was entertained by J. B. Losee on a trip on the launch Fleur de Lis to Portuguese Bend Thursday. There was a merry hunt for abalones, and a jolly bout at fishing. The guests were Miss Gertrude Wilson, Miss Lewis, Mrs. Losee, Miss Grace and Miss Bessie Losee, and Mrs. W. H. Graves.

The launch Ivy this morning brought in sixteen fish caught on trolling lines.

WOMAN'S FISHHOOK BRINGS HER GLORY.

YEAR'S FIRST BLACK SEA BASS CAUGHT AT CATALINA.

Mrs. Kendall of Boston Has the Honor. Yellowtail Within a Pound of the Record Landed Yesterday—Jap Divers Give Up.

AVALON, Aug. 15.—An event in angling circles was the taking of the first black sea bass for this season by a woman. Mrs. W. G. Kendall, wife of Dr. Kendall, of Boston, who is spending the summer here, is the fortunate angler. The doctor and his wife are both ardent sportsmen and anglers, and Mrs. Kendall demonstrated that she is thoroughly up to date in handling a rod, as she brought her fish to gaff in 37½ minutes. It weighed 145½ pounds. She was out with Jim Gardener.

Another rather notable catch this morning was a forty-seven-pound yellowtail by W. A. Rothwell of Moberly, Mo. While this is not a record fish, it comes within a pound of being so, for this season, and is a whopper of its kind. It was taken from the launch Sunbeam.

H. T. Kendall in the great "mix-up" of the tuna Tuesday night, secured one of the tiger fish, weighing 148½ pounds. Mr. Kendall has one of the "show" places of Pasadena, and in his dining hall has made a lot of niches for the hanging of fish and game. When his fish was caught, C. B. Parker, the island taxidermist, was in Los Angeles. Mr. Kendall, through the courtesy of Gen. New, brought the wireless telegraph to his aid, and in response to his message, Mr. Parker came over the next day, and the big tuna will ornament Mr. Kendall's Pasadena home.

George Humphreys and Joe Sweeney were out for jewfish this morning with the Lollard. Arriving at the grounds both men received a strike simultaneously, and try as they would they could not prevent the tangling of their lines, and both lost hook and line. They got seven yellowtail and two rock bass.

ISLAND BREVITIES.

A diversion occurred at the band concert last evening when at a favorable time between the numbers, Dr. Roscoe C. Thomas arose and in a short speech expressed the esteem in which the visitors to the island held the band's work, in most complimentary terms, and the great audience put the stamp of approval on his words by the most enthusiastic cheers. Mr. Porter, manager of the band, responded in a few well-chosen words, and this also was received with wild cheers. The band's engagement this year is for a month longer than ever before, and these popular concerts will be continued until September 15.

Hank Griffin, who was Fitzsimmons's sparring partner in training for his fight with Jeffries, came over yesterday, looking for training grounds. He has made a year's contract with the Cornishman to accompany him and give exhibitions of sparring in Fitz's play, "The Honest Blacksmith," but the lanky fighter's hands were so used up that it will be some time before he can use them again, and in the meantime Hank has made a match with Fred Russell of Chicago, which will take place September 12 before the Century Club in Los Angeles.

A merry picnic party chartered the Mascot for a trip to the Isthmus. A barbacue luncheon was enjoyed, followed by dancing. Many souvenir pictures were secured by the camera fiends. Sherman, camp lecturer, of Palo Alto, who have been in attendance at a "school of instruction" of their order in Los Angeles, came over to view Catalina today.

The Jap divers gave up the job of seeking for the jewels lost by Mrs. W. T. S. Hammond. They made a pretty thorough search over several acres of sea bottom where it was supposed the bag was dropped, but the thick growth of sea grass all over the bottom in that neighborhood presented such an obstacle that they thought it a waste of time to continue the search.

GOVERNOR KEEPS ON INSTITUTING ACTIONS.

SPRECKELS AND LEAKE ACCUSED A FIFTH TIME.

Gage Goes to San Pedro and Charges Proprietor and Manager of San Francisco "Call" With Criminal Libel. Brutal Youths Convicted.

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 15.—Gov. Gage filed another action for alleged criminal libel against John D. Spreckels and W. S. Leake, proprietor and manager of the San Francisco Call, respectively, today. This is his fifth proceeding of the same kind.

The Governor's latest charge is based on a publication in the Call of August 12. In that article the Call presented purported evidence in support of its allegations with reference to the shipment of convict-made furniture to Gov. Gage from San Quentin Prison. The Governor declares the article to be "false, scandalous, malicious, libel," and a dozen other things. He prays that a warrant be issued for the arrest of Messrs. Spreckels and Leake, and that they be dealt with according to law.

Gov. Gage also re-filed the three complaints which were filed in Los Angeles the other day, relative to articles published in the Call June 3, August 6 and August 10. He has taken this latter step to prevent any complication arising out of the other means used to institute his charges, when the court of San Pedro went to him, in place of the Governor coming to the court of San Pedro.

All of the formalities of law were complied with, the Governor being in court himself with his legal representative, H. H. Appel. Justice Henry C. Downing immediately issued warrants for the arrest of Spreckels and Leake. He will take the warrants to Los Angeles tomorrow, where he will place them personally in the hands of the Sheriff.

Gov. Gage and Attorney Appel came to San Pedro on the 11:45 Salt Lake train this morning, returning to Los Angeles at 12:15.

The steamer South Portland, Capt. Parker, sailed yesterday for Port Harford, where she will take on a cargo of grain and proceed to San Francisco.

The steamer Samoa, Capt. Madsen, sailed for San Francisco yesterday with return cargo of freight and passengers.

BEATERS GUILTY.

Lesley Sullivan and I. B Stokes, young men charged with beating a Chinaman on a Salt Lake train Saturday night, were found guilty today. Stokes was fined $200, or 100 days in the County Jail. Sentence of Sullivan was deferred until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Witnesses who were on the train at the time testified that the Chinaman was apparently sleeping, when Sullivan and Stokes entered the car. They said that Stokes immediately began abusing the Chinaman, without provocation, and started in to beat him. He hit him several times in the face with his fist, while Sullivan held him. The Chinaman got up to go into the next car, but was pursued by the ruffians, who kept on punching him in the face until the conductor stopped them.

Use for a Million.

Seated with some congenial cronies in a cool corner of a roof garden the other night was James Connor Roach, actor, playwright, wit and raconteur. They had been discussing wealth and what it meant to be a man of millions, when Roach said:

"Now, how many of us here tonight know what $1,000,000 really means? How many people in general know?

"Some think of a million as a check for that amount signed by George Gould and indorsed by Russell Sage. Others picture great heaps of gold.

"When I hear poor chaps like us speaking of millions I think of the story of three of my countrymen, who were digging a sewer in Kensington.

"They had shovels with very short handles, and the dirt had to be thrown higher the deeper they dug, so the longer they worked the more energy had to be expended.

"One noon hour they were seated along the fence, eating dinner, when Pat said:

"'Byes, do yez know what I'd do if I had a millyun dollars? I'd buy mesilf a job as porther on a Pullman car and spind the rist of me days in luxury.'

"Mike removed his pipe from his mouth, sighed as he looked at his empty pail, and said:

"'Well, well, now, would yez? I'd buy me one of them big corner saloons with all the lookin' glasses, and iv'ry time I took a drink I'd see mesilf twenty-four times takin' it.'

"The whistle summoned them to work, when Jim gave his opinion.

"Holding his lame old back with one hand and reaching for his shovel, he declared:

"'If I had a millyun dollars, I'd add two feet to the handles of all these shovels.'"—Philadelphia Times.
